

the new bauhaus American School of Design has been founded by the Association of Arts and Industries of Chicago.
It embodies the principles of the famous bauhaus founded by Dr. Walter Gropius in Weimar in 1919 according to which the principles of design and scientific subjects are taught coordinated with workshop practice.
Director: L. Moholy-Nagy
Assistant Director: Norma K. Stahle
Advisor: Walter Gropius

Night Class and Spring Semester
1938

the new bauhaus
American School of Design
1905 Prairie Avenue
Chicago, Ill.
Telephone: Victory 2500