

TECH TEAM SET FOR GAME WITH IRISH, MONDAY

Basketball Men Ready To Trim Opponents At South Bend

ARMOUR TO UPSET PRECEDENT

If Armour can play with the same reckless abandon which has characterized many of its games in the past, its chances of trimming Notre Dame Monday, Dec. 10, on the South Bend oblong loom up with great probability. If previous scores mean anything, the local outfit will find themselves on the wrong side of the ledger. Past scores don't mean a thing to the present game—it's the score at the end of the game to be played that carries more weight than a dozen records.

Armour's willingness that Notre Dame should be beaten is brought about by the fact, that in all the games with that famous institution, only in one particular instance did the home cagers come within speaking distance of beating their Indiana rivals. But the Irish can be beat. This has been evidenced in recent upheavals in the football dope when Notre Dame's rivals were thought of as set-ups, but reversed the predictions when the final scores were posted. Thus if their football ability of the past season is any criterion on their basketball skill, Tech will come home with a long sought for win.

The home cagers will leave for South Bend at noon on the day of the game. Now wouldn't it be a real idea to back the team with a few rooters for that important struggle? Cal Johnson, basketball manager, announces that if we get enough fellows to make the trip there is a possibility of having a private car. So fellows, speak up, and let's give the team a little backing. Those making the trip by car should aim to leave about 3 p. m. in order to be on hand when the gun goes off. The game will be called at 8 p. m.

The probable lineup will be Capt. Johnny Manz and Augie Augustine at the guard positions, King Simpson and Bill Tell at forward, and Clare Robin at center. It is hoped that King's ankle will have mended sufficiently by then that he will start the game. Other men who will see action are Stan Ott, Norval Ewing and Jimmy Fee.

Grid-Iron Queries

By Professor John J. Schommer

(Ed. Note: Professor John J. Schommer, conference umpire, and leading authority on football, will answer through this column, any questions on football which are puzzling our readers. Questions should be dropped into the NEWS contribution box, located on the first floor of the main building.)

Question 13: How do the teams decide which team shall kick off at the commencement of the first and third quarters, and which goal to defend?

Answer: Referee tosses a coin. Winner of toss has privilege of choosing one of three things: goal, kicking off, or receiving. At the opening of the third quarter the situation is reversed; then the loser of the toss at the beginning of the first quarter has first choice.

Question 14: Which team has the choice of kicking off or receiving after a touchdown has been made?

Answer: The team scored upon has the choice of either kicking off or receiving.

Question 15: If the umpire or timekeeper shoots his gun, announcing the end of the game while a man is running for a touchdown, is that man allowed to complete his play and will his team be given time to make kick for extra point?

Answer: Yes.

Techs Humbled By Crane; Score 42-15

Crane's well-oiled offensive and smooth working defense gave evidence that they were in fine shape.

Miss Free Throws
The consistency which our local talent missed gift shots was really appalling, and will shed considerable light on their apparently low collection of points. At one time there were a total of 5 consecutive free throws that missed their calling. In all there were some 10 or 11 that went astray.

This is the first time in 3 years that Crane has subdued Armour. Their team was good, and considering that two of Armour's best bets at the forward position are out indefinitely it is perfectly safe in saying that they deserved to win.

The opening of the game was occasioned by a series of fouls on both sides. The eagle eyes of both Referee Glick and Umpire Stanger interrupted play at numerous times in administering penalties to erring warriors. Armour took advantage of only one of these early opportunities while their West Side rivals completed 4.

In all Armour fell the victim to 6 free gifts to Crane which they garnered a total of 7 via the same route.

Considerable substitution was resorted to as the game wore on, Crane employing a total of 13 men and Tech 10. Tell, Augustine and Manze played brilliantly while Lutz, Golan and Farber drew the spot light for the Cranemen. Simpson saw service despite a bad ankle, showing promise of being in 100 percent shape for the Notre Dame tussle.

"SUPERING"

ber of people the high quality of the product displayed by the Chicago company indicates the efficiency of the organization.

Another interesting phase of supering is the glimpse of stage life one gets, that is, one sees the actors when they are not acting. The public seems to consider artists of all kinds as being just a little bit peculiar, with some of this peculiarity manifesting itself in the form of temperament. That portion of the public that gets its examples of temperament among people of artistic bent from newspaper accounts consider temperament an affectation on the part of the artist who is merely seeking publicity. No doubt sometimes this is true, but what the public fails to realize is that while the artists appear before them smiling happily they are really hard at work. Some little appreciation of the strenuous nature of their undertaking is gained by seeing them at close range when they are not on the stage.
