

TECH WRESTLERS GAIN REVENGE IN NO. CENTRAL MEET

North Central, victor over Armour in all lines of sport recently, has finally been defeated—and not merely defeated, but squelched! The Tech wrestlers were the principals in this outstanding victory and their 26-8 win is all the more satisfying in that it avenges a former defeat, consistent with the North Central-Armour situation, inflicted when the Techmen visited Naperville.

Friday's win boosted the season standing of the team to three and three, and Bob Schmidt, despite a recent illness, took his sixth bout to keep his record perfect and set the team's pace as captain. His success was emulated by all but two men on the team; Marslek losing on a time advantage at 125 lbs., and Bergquist losing an overtime battle in the light-heavy class by a fall.

Hella, opening the meet proper, completely dominated his foe to win with a time of 5:31. Jimmy Dunne made it two wins with a brilliant exhibition of wrestling. The sinuous freshman tired his opponent with plenty of leg riding and then clamped him down with an arm lock and crotch hold in 4:42. He fought at 135 lbs.

Schmidt prevented a hard working North Central man from even making a break in the next bout, and rose to an undisputable win controlling an arm, for he could not slip on his effective leg scissors. Krenl and Sumner both gained falls in their matches without much trouble. Both used a crotch and half nelson to up the Tech score.

Ray Peterson, in the finale, really sewed up the meet and his man to avenge Bergquist's loss, in the preceding match, to Mike Adler, North Central star and former Lane Tech luminary. Pete tore into Maechtle, dumped him and the impending fall was finally called in 5:44.

Previously, Armour has won from De Kalk and the University of Chicago. North Central, Wheaton, and the Lincoln-Belmont Y have been victorious against Tech. A chance to avenge the other two defeats will be afforded soon. Wheaton comes to Armour on Feb. 25, and a return meet with the Y is in the offing.

The results of a poll on the New Deal conducted among 1,600 of the 3,000 undergraduates by the Yale Record, were published recently by that paper under the title "Yale Turns Its Back on the New Deal."

Of 1,606 who were asked how they would have voted in 1932, 520 replied in favor of Roosevelt, 956 in favor of Hoover, and 130 for Thomas.

Armour Defeats Wright Tankers

Tech swimmers scored another win, their second in practice meets, when on Feb. 6, they defeated Wright Jr. College in an exciting aquatic exhibition before a cheering crowd of twenty-five spectators whose wild applause nearly raised the roof off Bartlett pool. The final score was determined by the 100 yard medley where the supreme efforts of Capt. J. Ahern cinched the meet and put Armour on the long end of the 40-35 score.

Fencing Team in N. U. Social Meet

The Armour Tech Fencing Club, newly equipped by their own efforts took part in a social fencing meet at Northwestern University last Saturday. A social meet, as the name indicates, is composed of a series of non official bouts, so the comparative worth of the participants cannot be expressed in a point tabulation. However, Professor Fisher, coach of the Tech team, who took part in the program, was satisfied that in a regular meet the Armour fencers could easily match the skill of those present.

Coach Zettleman and Capt. Zimmerman of Northwestern were in charge of the meet, which drew fencers from the city high schools, the Edgewater Fencing Club, Armour and Northwestern. Representing Armour were: Capt. Ed Krok, Z. Trzyna, and K. Trzyna. George Quandee, fourth member of the team was not present.

The Edgewater Club, composed of men and women members, has been scheduled to meet Armour at Armour within a few weeks while a match with Northwestern will soon follow.

Chuck Handler, co-manager of the track squad and George Wheaton, manager of the wrestling team are at present quarantined with scarlet fever and it looks like a couple of weeks in "stir". George would have enjoyed seeing his men step on North Central, Armour's traditional foe. Chuck could miss the track team's first attempt. . . . They lost. No one can say that our managers have nothing in common . . . but sympathy we have—and you're needed—so . . . lots of sleep boys.

If spring and dryness ever get here we can finish our football tourney . . . no this is no joke. The Sr. M.E., Jr. E.E., and Soph M.E. still breathe if we don't err. Also, if you expect to enter the soft ball interdepartmental, so successful last spring, get organized! Got to tick the Jr. E.E., present champs.

Well, now that the first semester is over, the underclassmen should be pretty well oriented in the Armour program. This kills the excuse offered by many Techawks, prominent in high tically to Nihilism, but it is not intended so. It is not intended to suggest that nothing matters; on the contrary I think that the condition of men has constantly improved and will continue to do so; that men are happier and more comfortable today than they have ever been, and they will be more so.

But it seems to me that opinions and beliefs are worth far less than most people realize. It has been suggested before, and I think it is true, that much more thought is devoted to finding arguments to support stubbornly held opinions, than to actual consideration of our problems and other people's ideas about them.

school sports, that they are here for an education and seek no extra laurels. Why wait longer to earn that letter and speaker. Men find time to run the publications—keep Armour in all sports, (note: basketball team). Why don't some of you hesitants look up the averages of men prominent in school activities?

It is noised around that Messrs. Olson, Bungert, and Marshall are of the funny tribe. Say, you fellows, the team just got new suits!!
