Wanted—A New Emblem

In search for an emblem or a sticker that will immediately signify Armour Tech whenever seen, the A.T.S.A. is sponsoring a sticker design contest. It is hoped that designs will be presented which will incorporate youthful expression and originality.

Almost every college and university has an emblem which immediately identifies the school when it is seen. To date Armour has featured a standard unexpressive sticker.

Show your ingenuity, Techawks, and enter the contest now. The time is short—May 18 is the deadline for submission of designs. Student ideas are wanted for the design of this new sticker. The design need not be elaborate but it should signify vivid action.

Begin thinking about your design and submit your entry soon.

This week's column is the individual opinion on anything of every fellow who is now conscious of the fact that he is behind the eight ball and well, a charette is a charette... Round the room from left to right they say:

- 1. HUBOIS, "I have started my project two weeks earlier than usual. I will also pass English."
2. Bradt, "The Depanters Protective Association, Bradt President, still challenges all comers, even Mr. Loebel."
3. Four vacant boards (Spring and the girls).
4. Mike, "I had it first, Litwin."
5. Osterman, "Get the h—I out of here."
6. Lake, "Architects must unionize, me as President. Get the black-jack."
7. KUBICKA, "I have dropsey—just dropped trig. Love to Professor Krathwohl."
8. ART GUM, "I'll git this thing done yet."
9. Goldsmith, (Sorry, not quotable.)
10. Bouland, "I want free beer and wider sidewalks."
11. WAGNER, "I'll tell ya later, I gotta think."
12. Street, "I'm up a blind alley."
13. DAVIS, "Yes Mr. Mell."
14. Wilkinson, "Today I have a plan."
Over the bridge to the junior room.

- 1. SCHEEL, "Charette is h—I."
2. Pelz, "My mind is full of esoteric vagaries."
3. Lader, "Joe Wagner's grouch gets me too."
4. Parks, "I'll have a raw egg in mine."
5. Woolsey, "It 'Hearst' me to say this, but down with the press."
Bits about 'ems FISCHER and HRACHOVSKY are now stone-carving and find it rather strenuous... LAKE can be taken down... SCHEEL is an expert pianist and gave SKUBIC lessons in harmony. The Class of '37 is home in bed. Hence this vacant silence (.....). Same with the freshmen. And now the same for—

ART GUM.

Judging Ability—Via Personnel Route

A tremendous demand for qualified college men by industry is on its way. At least, this is the report made in a current executives' periodical by Mr. Edmond F. Wright. The article shows employers how they may find college graduates who will stick, and gives a few simple rules for gauging the ability and character of the men they may seek to hire.

Mr. Wright's pointers are: "1, Eliminate any prejudice you may have against the 'collegiate' attitude; 2, Don't give him the 'school of hard knocks' gag; 3, Don't be too critical of the prospective employee's dress; 4, Test the candidate for effective thinking; 5, Having arrived at a rough estimate of the candidate's I. Q., test him for 'G. Q.' his gumption quotient; 6, Test for contributions to extra-curricular interests; 7, Find out, if you can, what his immediate group thinks of him; 8, Test for personality; 9, Test for self-discipline; 10, Place at least one responsibility on the candidate in whom you are interested."

Since employers are being advised to consider these factors in prospective employees, they are excellent points for the student to keep in mind.

Quotable Quotes

"No great civilization ever has developed leisure and lived. There are few, if any indications, that America will be an exception. Given leisure, man will go to sleep—that is, he will let down, get soft, become an onlooker, cease to be vigorous and thus lose initiative." New York University's Dr. Jay B. Nash, professor of education, believes America will perish if people don't adopt hobbies.

"There are two broad avenues to follow—the avenue of escape and the avenue of fulfillment. The man who follows the avenue of escape does not come to terms with life at all. He either loses himself in activities feverish but unsubstantial, or falls into lethargy. Those choosing this path are not real adults." Cocooned-adults take a spurting from Pres. Harry M. Wriston of Brown University.

There will be a radio dance at the house Tuesday of Junior Week with every one welcome.

We take pleasure in announcing the pledging of: George Frost, Ch.E. '39.

The Slipstick

Cleave to the slipstick; let the slapstick fly where it may.

Good morning Gentle Reader, g. m. 2 u. For the past few weeks we have exposed you to the ravings of the now defunct Pythagoras—we have injected Morfeen into your systems and to salt your wounds we also gave you Eejay. Today we nail your coffin. I am proud in presenting—ME. (ZAZU)

Heard at the Freshman Dance: "I love you. But in an impersonal way."

"Bore me, snap. Why, how could you? I wasn't astening!" "What, again, Daisy, Aw Gee, this is the third time tonight—" "Dat's my English Prof. Ain't he smart looking. I like him the most on account of he learns me more than all the rest do."

Reporter—I've got a perfect news story. Editor—How come? Man bit dog? Slave—No, a bull threw a Professor.

Once there was a Scotchman who was so close—that he got his face slapped.

Nurse—I think he's regaining consciousness, doctor, he just tried to blow the foam off his medicine.

Before closing let me add that the present bunch of frosh have yet to show any sign of possessing a sense of humor... O Yeah! Well, if you wanna show me why doncha drop some contribs in the News Box. THIS IS A CHALLENGE!!

The call of Spring is lurking Beneath yon skies of blue: I do not feel like working, In fact, I never do, And that's ZAZU.

Warren Schreiber, looking up at the goose swaying above him at Phil Smidt's, "Boy, I hope that bird isn't alive."

Carmen Basile had his first date last week and according to "Swede" Carlson he had beginner's luck.

After failing to screw up enough courage in a half hour wait to enter the Art Institute, Francis X. Popper (male) went home, only to return for a similar vigil in front of the Rialto—but his nerve failed again.

QUOTE SOBOLIK ON MONDAY MORNING: "AH, WHAT A NIGHT" (WHILE GAZING AT THE CEILING.)

Around Washington

By Marvin Cox (A.C.P. Correspondent)

Washington, D. C.—Getting a bill introduced in Congress is one of the easiest things in the world to accomplish. Draft your bill, persuade some Congressman to drop it in the hopper, and there you are.

Securing action on a bill after it is introduced is something else again. Around 20,000 individual bills were introduced in the last Congress, but only a small fraction of them were acted upon.

So, while the American Youth Congress experienced little difficulty in having the American Youth Act introduced in the House and Senate, they are having some trouble in having hearings before a committee. And, naturally a bill appropriating $500,000,000 for the advancement of youth will require a number of hearings before it is favorably reported to the Congress for passage.

The Youth Congress in order to speed action on the bill is, therefore, adopting a course long since found effective by later unions, utilities, and other groups seeking legislation which is favorable to them. Local and regional Youth Congress groups and each of the 3,000 individuals who made the Youth Pilgrimage to Washington in February have received sample letters and telegrams with which to bombard their Senators and Representatives.

This legislative game of having the folks "back home" write to the Congressmen is an old trick, and sometimes highly effective. And the

How many things a woman can carry in her purse has long been a subject of conversation among college men. Now the males at the University of Wisconsin have a Ripley addition to this type of bull-sessioning.

It seems that a coed lost her handbag at one of these night-clubs outside of Madison. She didn't notice the loss until returning to her sorority house after the date.

Instead of fussing around and driving out to the club the next day, she decided to wait until the following Saturday, when she had a date to go there again.

At the check-room, she asked if anyone had found her bag. Several were brought out. Could she identify hers by the contents?

"Why, yes," answered the coed, "mine has a pair of pajamas in it!"

By cutting the shells of hens' eggs and gluing a small glass pane over the hole with petroleum jelly, experimenters, under the direction of Dr. Howard Kernkamp, of the University of Minnesota's farm, can watch the actual growth of baby chicks while in the shell.

The atomic theory is not new. It was advocated two thousand years ago by Epicurus, the Greek philosopher, and Lucretius, the Latin poet, say two professors at the University of Michigan.

Having a girl during spring quarter, calculates a math wizard at the University of Minnesota, is equivalent to carrying 10 extra hours, for which you get some credit but no honor points.

American Youth Congress is adopting this time honored practice to get its legislation across.

However, your Washington agent predicts that the Youth Act will not pass at this Session of Congress. 'Less you take this too seriously let me hasten to add that I picked the New York Giants to win the World Series.

Growth rings on baby teeth have been discovered by Dr. Isaac Schoor, of the college of dentistry at the University of Illinois. These rings, he states, show a relationship to the child's age.

London, Eng.—(ACP)—There is no mystery about the Indian ascetics who walk through fire; they simply have tough feet. So said Prof. J. C. Flugel, of the University of London, in regard to experiments recently conducted by that institution's Council for Psychological Investigation.

Glowing red embers were thrown into a trench 25 feet long and 5 feet wide. The temperature of the smoking lane was about seven times and one-half as hot as boiling water, or 740 degrees Centigrade.

Even Ahmed Hussain, a 23-year-old Moslem fire-walker suffered burned feet. The amateurs who walked through the ashes were burned in varying degrees.

"My feet seemed to sink into the flowing ashes," said A. J. Bould, a university student, "and some red-hot cinders stuck painfully to the sides of my feet. It was not too bad."

"I didn't feel much heat," said R. Adcock, the son of an asbestos manufacturer. "My father is an asbestos manufacturer. Perhaps asbestos runs in the blood."

A TEN-FOOT HIND LIMB OF THE GIANT DINOSAUR DIPLODOCUS CAN BE SEEN AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN'S MUSEUM. IT MUST HAVE BEEN TOUGH ON THE CAVE MAN, TO HAVE TO CARRY AROUND THE HIND LEG OF A DIPLODOCUS FOR GOOD LUCK!

A poor man's fraternity, Pi Alpha Sigma, has been organized at Syracuse University. Their Initiation fee is typical of their desire to keep expenses down to an absolute minimum; only $2.75 is charged. In this, its first year, it has the highest fraternity scholarship record ever made on the campus.
