Fraternity Notes

By EDWARD CHEVALEY

All fraternity notes must be received by the fraternity editor before 5 P.M. Thursday in order to appear in the next issue.

TRIANGLE

Donald C. Rogge, president of the house, now has a new hobby—and it has the brothers worried. It seems that Don must have taken a ride in a boat while down in Evansville, Ind., last summer, for now he is constructing his own Queen Mary in the basement of the house.

Whether he will be able to launch it through the walls is a problem that Don doesn't seem to be worrying about. The 14 foot craft will start some swell fires this winter, any way.

Triangle extends its congratulations to Brother Howard Coyle who was pledged to Tau Beta Pi a week ago last Friday.

PHI PI PHI

The Halloween Dance, sponsored by the pledge class, was a pronounced success and Pledge Captain Ted Growak can be proud of his pledge brothers for their fine cooperation on that project.

The chapter was proud to have as guests of the evening, Prof. and Mrs. Freeman and we trust that they enjoyed being with us as much as we enjoyed having them.

Our new R. C. A. Victor radio-phonograph has been working overtime and several heated discussions have been waged over the rendition of a certain selection entitled, Old Man Mose.

The athletic boys of the house have been working out with the new set of barbells, and it is reported from a reputable source that Clay De Menti can lift anything in the house but the furnace, and he can balance the budget with his right hand.

DELTA TAU DELTA

Comes Tuesday and our long awaited contest with Rho Delta Rho. The team is in top-notch shape and expects to add the Rho Deltas to its purge list. An 18-0 victory is predicted for the purple avalanche. Ransel having resigned it behooved the Deltas to elect a new treasurer. When the nominations were over and the votes counted William Scherer was installed as the future Dollar Grabber.

Our Pledge Formal is to be held at the House Nov. 19. Put on your top hat, white tie, dust off those tails and let's swing it. But don't forget your best table manners, for the Mothers' Club is to supply the food in the way of a buffet supper.

Armistice Day

At the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month of the year 1918, all hostile action ceased in the greatest of all wars—the World War. It was the first Armistice Day. Men who had been trying to kill each other now came boldly out of their trenches. Enemies for four long years became friends and peace instead of war, reigned over the battle-scarred fields of France.

In this country wild rejoicing broke out in every city, town, and village. The whole country was swept with a tide of happiness. The strain of the war was over. Bells rang and rang; everyone was happy. No more war. No more hatred. People everywhere resolved and declared that never again should war darken the souls of men and cast its shadow over the world.

At the dedication of the tomb to the "Unknown Soldier" in the National Cemetery at Arlington, Virginia, President Warren G. Harding said, "This must never happen again."

Each year, all Armour attends the Armistice assembly. It is the only tribute we can pay to those men who lost their lives in a fight for democracy. The assembly this year will be held in Ogden field in the form of a mass-meeting. All brass instruments of the orchestra have been formed into a band to furnish stirring marches for the event. The ceremony, which includes the entire student body and staff, should be very impressive. Plans have been arranged far in advance to insure an orderly entrance to the field. Assist the school officials by using the directions published with this issue.

THETA XI

We are happy to have Brother Graf back with us after having been absent for nearly two weeks due to an injury he received in a touchball game two weeks ago.

Brother Giovan is getting an early start with the ping pong players this year. A number of the boys are very good players and will make an excellent team. Brother Hrudu insists that he wins his games by the use of a little psychology. His opponents feel that his freak shots seem to be quite regular, or maybe its because of his long arms.

PHI KAPPA SIGMA

Congratulations to the Rho Deltas for their handling of the pigskin and subsequent win, with sportsmanship as the keynote. May the best team win the finals.

Last Saturday night the Mothers' Club with their usual aplomb gave a grand card and bunco party. Thank you, Mothers' Club and those Dads that were prominently active. The prizes were well chosen and were received with a great deal of pleasure. The party wasn't restricted to grown-ups as was noted by the conspicuous attendance of brothers and pledges with their better half.

Our well rounded off pledge class has quickly adopted themselves to fraternity house functions and are striving vigorously to attain the pledge award. This award will be presented to the pledge having the best all around record of pledgeship including scholarships, attitude, co-operation, etc. The award is a fraternity crest ring.

PI KAPPA PHI

The Mothers' Club card party held last Saturday was a huge success due to an attendance of 48. Our pledge dance is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 18 and the pledges have threatened to outdo our regular social committee, but we claim it can't be done.

Our first intra house touchball game ended in a scoreless tie, both teams are planning how to win in the near future.

MAY CHANGE W.S.E. PLAN—

the A.S.C.E. and make the W.S.E. the parent society as outlined in the previous plan. "If a charter is desired, the following procedure must be followed," said Mr. Hammond of the A.S.C.E. He then went on to describe the mechanics of obtaining a charter.

In answer to a question from Dr. Grinter, Mr. Hammond said that there was nothing in the by-laws of either society which would prohibit a plan as he understood it.

Many Armourites Attended Chicago Teachers College Social Friday Afternoon

Last Friday afternoon, 119 Armourites accepted the invitation of the Chicago Teachers College. Arriving at 3:30 in the afternoon the two hour period of dancing passed quickly with the Techawks doing their share in the robber's dances.

Every other Friday, the college has a social. Because of the basketball and choir practice at the same time, partners were scarce. Tickets were sent to the Registrar and students interested were asked to call there for them.

Pres. Heald Visits Cooper Union on Recent Trip East

During the last week President H. T. Heald has been doing a considerable amount of traveling in the eastern portion of the country. For the first part of the week, he was in Boston, Mass. on business concerning the Institute, and then during the latter part he represented Armour at Cooper Union College for an installation of its new officials. Cooper Union is perhaps the oldest technical school in the entire country.

Since Mr. Heald is to make the address at the Friday Armistice Day ceremonies, he will be returning to his desk early this week.

Equipment and Furnishings Being Delivered Daily for Remodeled Student Union

Work on the new Union Building has been progressing rapidly during the last week. Students have all seen the number of trucks which have pulled up and discharged pieces of new equipment, but work on the inside has also been gaining headway.

Scaffolding has been removed from the new assembly hall, the decorating and lighting is practically complete and the new wooden floor is ready for finishing. The new movable seats have yet to be delivered, but they will be ready in a few days.

It is expected that the lunch room equipment will be removed from the gym during the Thanksgiving holidays and the Union will then be ready for one of its most important functions—food. All of the new equipment for the fountain, new gas ranges, and new dishwashing equipment have been installed. The new pedestal type tables have been delivered and new lighting fixtures are being put in place.

Book cases for the book store have been set up and are ready to be fastened in place. All of the new hall doors have been hooked to their frames and numerous panes of new glass have been puttyed in windows.

The Slipstick

Cleave to the slipstick; let the slapstick fly where it may.

Step in closer folks and also you Armour engineers I'd like to show this all new patented self servicing and automatic mechanism which we are giving away absolutely free with every Slipstick Column. This little handy device when attached to your slide-rule will locate the decimal point in your answer. Simply add up the mantissas and divide by the characteristics and subtract the antilog from the quotient to the colog. The answer is guaranteed to be right. If the answer isn't right you can sue me. So what?

Beside the crowded dance floor
An ugly coed stood
And stood, and stood, and stood,
And stood, and stood, and stood.

Armour Soph: Pa, may I have a quarter to go to the circus with?

Dad: What? A quarter to see the circus, and only last week I let you go out and see the eclipse of the moon! Young man, do you want your life to be one perpetual round of gaiety?

Indicating that this column has the engineer's best interest at heart we are giving you the following technical report received from the research laboratory on whiskey.

Connect 20,000 volts across a pint:

- 1) If the current jumps it, the product is poor.
- 2) If the current causes a precipitation of lye, tin, arsenic, iron, slag, and alumni, the whiskey is fair.
- 3) If the whiskey chases the current back to the generator, you've got good whiskey.

"Johnnie, did you want to leave the room?"

"Say, teacher, you don't think I'm standing here hitch-hikin' do you?"

Georgie Porgie, Pumpkin Pie
Chased the girls and made them Cry, of course.

Our Household hint for this week will be a recipe on how to prepare watermelon squash. Gently pick up the watermelon and hold over head. Now let go. Squash!

I was boasting to B.R.S. that on a clear night a few weeks ago I could see the lights of Gary from the Chicago shoreline. "That's nuthin'," he retorted, "on a clear night last week

The Town's Best

By BERNARD STERNFELD

IN THE PICTURE DEPT: Might as well give the play to movie houses outside the Loop this week. There are just too many K. O. pics circulating to pass up. F'instance, a nifty parley is currently running at the Marbro and Uptown. The screwball Marx Brothers aggregation in "ROOM SERVICE" and "MARIE ANTOINETTE" starring Norma Shearer and Tyrone Power is well worth your time and coin of the realm. Other hits including "ALEXANDER'S RAGTIME BAND," "BOY MEETS GIRL," and "CAREFREE" are still showing at the smaller show spots. They're all $250,000 Movie Quiz Contest numbers. Remember to send me my 10%.

IF YOU ARE READING: Ferdinand Lundberg's America's Sixty Families is a choice number. A flock of our American society uppercrusters take quite a bit of punishment in this, what with commoner Lundberg revealing the status of their income, the method in which said income was obtained, and the curious but interesting ways in which those gorgeous coarse notes are spent. It's a big book, jammed with names and statistics, but an easily read book. A good bet, that's America's Sixty Families.

AMUSEMENTS ODDS AND ENDS: Victor hits the deck this week with two naturals. For six bits, on No. 26060, you get a couple of swing classics as dished up by Benny Goodman & Co. "Margie" and "Russian Lullaby" are the tunes.

I could see all the way to the moon from the Chicago shoreline."

Prof: What is a skeleton?
Stude: A stack of bones with all the people scraped off.

DEAR DAD:

I hope you are well.
I hope mother is well.
I hope sister is well.
I hope John is well.
I wish you were here.
I wish mother was here.
I wish sister was here.
I wish John was here.
I wish you would send me some money.

Jim.

We are told that the last word in airplanes is "Jump."

"Did you feel something cold run up and down your back when you proposed to Eleanor?"
"Naw, her old man held the gun steady."

Drip: Do you play on the piano?
Drop: No. I used to, but my mother made me stop.
Drip: How's that?
Drop: She was afraid I might fall off.

That's all folks.
