THREE PANEL BOOKS!

A three-panel comic strip. In the first panel, a person with a bug-like body is sitting in a chair, looking at a clock that says 8:12. A speech bubble says, "HUH, IT SEEMS I'VE BECOME A BUG...". In the second panel, the person is still sitting in the chair, looking at the clock which still says 8:12. In the third panel, the person is still sitting in the chair, looking at the clock which still says 8:12. A speech bubble says, "I GUESS I SHOULD... GO TO WORK, OR SOMETHING..."

A three-panel comic strip featuring a man with a beard and a ruff collar.

- Panel 1: The man points upwards with his right index finger. A speech bubble says: "I AM WRITING MY ESSAYS TO DISCOVER MYSELF!"
- Panel 2: The man has a thoughtful expression. A speech bubble says: "I WONDER WHAT MY WRITING SAYS ABOUT ME THUS FAR?"
- Panel 3: The man is shown from behind as a silhouette, holding up a book. Above him is a thought bubble containing the letters "HM...". The open book he is holding contains the words "Sex, Books," repeated five times on each page.

The contact was not significant between the two, but the behavior is unacceptable and the FA is sure to come down extremely hard on him for this behavior that cannot be tolerated by a manager. As of the now the punishment has not been released, but it is bound to be a hefty fine and a lengthy suspension at a minimum.
