

Techhawk nine defeats North Park Juniors, 8-7

•Last week, Tuesday, to be exact, the North Park junior college nine invaded the hallowed ground of Ogden field, only to be repulsed by our Scarlet and Grey warriors. The hurlers, in true Indian fashion, went wild and the infielders inspired by them, contributed to the general melee. Before things had settled down the North Parkers were leading our team by a score of 6-3.

•A few scattered hits marked the middle innings, without any change in the score. In the eighth inning North Park sent their tiring

FOUR TEAMS QUALIFY IN GOLF TOURNEY

•Four teams emerged victorious in the qualifying round of the intramural golf tourney. Battling against gusty winds and cold blasts, the teams on the whole turned in quite high scores. One freshman, Perry Anderson, however, turned in an 81 for the 18 holes to lead the pack.

•Leading the qualifiers were the Soph Chems, who turned in a total score of 272 for the round. Harry Gillespie led his team with an 84, while Paul Dalenberg was close behind with 86. Don McMillan finished with a 102 to complete the threesome.

•A second sophomore team, the Arx, carded a 292 to place second. Lincoln Frelich, Ken Rogers, and Warren Monberg, tallied 94, 95 and 105, respectively, to make up the total points. The Junior Firemen were the third team to qualify, as they turned in a 293, just one point behind the Arx. Joe Pruzinski shot a 93, Frank Hull a 96, and Bob Hall a 104, for the FPE's scores.

•The last qualifiers were the Frosh No. 2 team. Led by Perry Anderson who turned in the low score of 81, the Frosh carded 299. Pete Minwegen and Bob Price turned in 102 and 116 to help qualify their team.

•The final round of the tourney was played off last Saturday in match play. Results will be printed in the next issue of the TECHNOLOGY NEWS.

moundsman to the showers, and with the advent of the new man the war drums beat again. The IIT sluggers lived up to their name and assisted by the eccentricity of the pitcher, scored five runs before the inning's end. In the ninth the opposition managed to push one run across the plate but could do no more. The final score was 8 to 7 in favor of Illinois Tech.

•Viewing this game objectively, it is seen that when our hurlers were able to control the ball they were hot. When a man can walk two hitters and then settle down and strike out the next three men in order, that's coming through in the pinch. The infield is rapidly shaping up and promises to be second to none. The outfield is a smooth-working machine with a freshman, Warren Furst, showing possibilities of cornering a starting berth. The veterans, Hackbarth, Gleason, and Erickson, are also hustling and making the outfield a neat outfit.

•The boys take on Michigan Normal today, and battle Chicago Teachers, Thursday. Let's support the team!

Armour All-Stars beat Lewis Aces

•Breaking away from a 14-14 tie at the half, a superior Armour team spurred to a 34-22 win over the Lewis All-Star quintet. This was the first time since the merger that any south side squad was able to beat a Lewis cage team.

•Armour opened up with looping baskets by Gibbons and Furst, but Laut teamed up with Komen and Poile to hit the hoop four times to put the west siders in the lead at the end of the first quarter, 9-8.

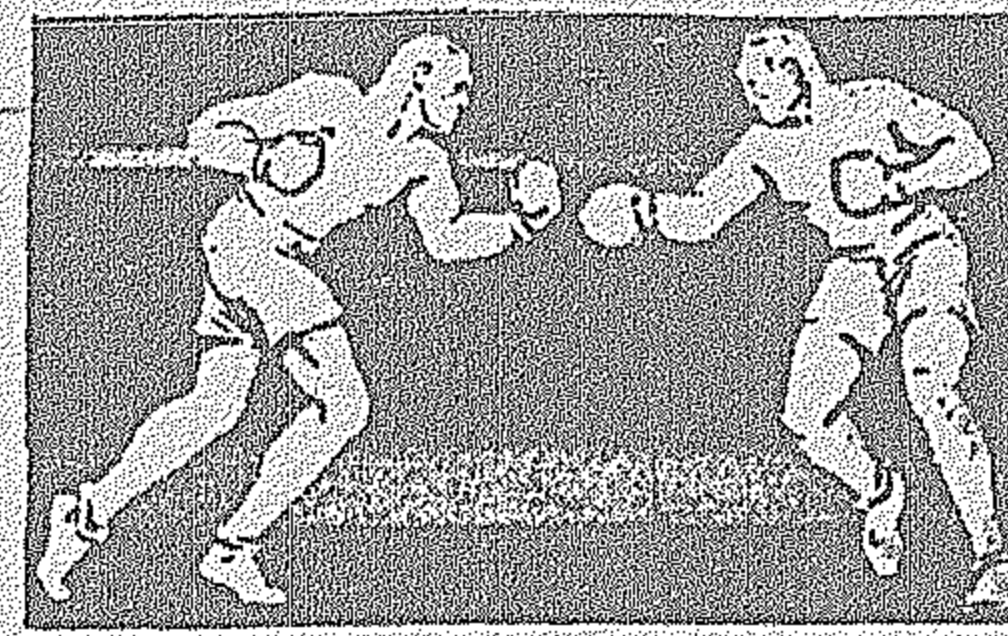

•With the help of some nice set-up shots by Logan, the south siders forged into a tie at the end of the second quarter.

•Since they found the ceiling too low for their looping shots in the first half, the Armour lads went into a faster pace and took set-up shots by out-running the Lewis cagers. This gave them a nine-point lead early in the third quarter. Using fast breaking plays, coupled with fine passing, Armour continued to hold their lead and with fine defensive play they held Lewis to a lone basket in the third period.

•Logan held scoring honors for the south side team with ten points, while Laut led the losers with the same number of counters.

BLOW BY BLOW

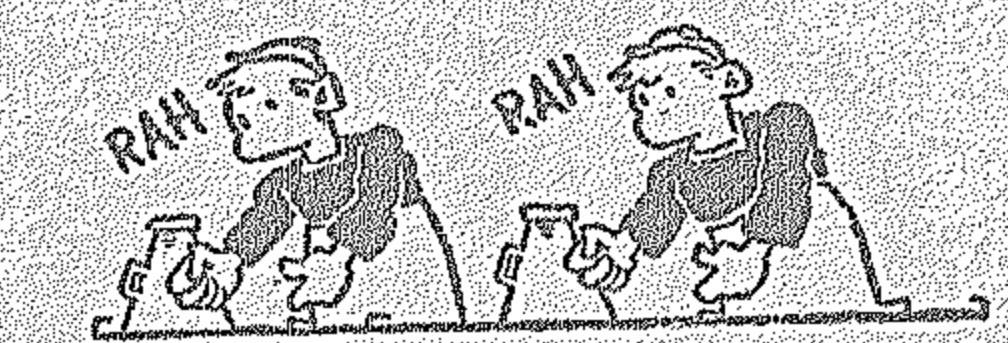

by "Bubbles" Bechtolt

•Flash!! Extra!! News story of the week!! Baseball team wins second straight game to make the season's standing two wins as against one loss. Why the one loss? Simply this—no support. At the University of Chicago game the boys had to stand the heckling of numerous University of Chicago supporters, without the answering cat-calls, etc., from the IIT boys. At the North Park game all the spectators left as soon as the five o'clock whistle blew. Whoa, boys, we aren't working on a union wage scale, are we? The lads pounded out an 8-7 victory in the last innings of the game, and who was there to cheer them on? A few of our 33rd street natives and the empty stands. Well, enough said, draw your own conclusions.

•We would like to predict, here and now, that the junior class will mop up the entire school at the future class rush. So far, the juniors have been the only active body around school. In the post-rush, interclass struggle, the freshmen and the sophomores will have a tough time beating the combined forces of the juniors and seniors. Do you doubt it? Well, only time will tell.

•When the Hockey team was organized several seasons ago, Doc Davey made the formal request for the money to support the team. The mazuma was granted to the team with the specific rider that neither the team, nor Davey, was ever to ask for letters for the team's effort. We're not here to dispute this; however, it seems that the boys should not be cheated out of their just rewards simply because of an agreement made several years past. At least three of the team have worked like dogs to make it a success, and although the win and loss record is not impressive, the team, nevertheless, helped to cultivate school spirit around here as well as putting the name of IIT on the map. How about it, you gents on the ITSA board, don't these men deserve some reward for their efforts?

•Last year the erstwhile sports editor of this paper was instrumental in starting a Field house fund, to be used to collect money for the proposed Armour field house. After a flashy start the campaign has bogged-down, probably due to the lack of pushing by yours truly. Well, yours truly is coming out of his hole in the Co-op bookstore and is giving a little push to the field house effort.

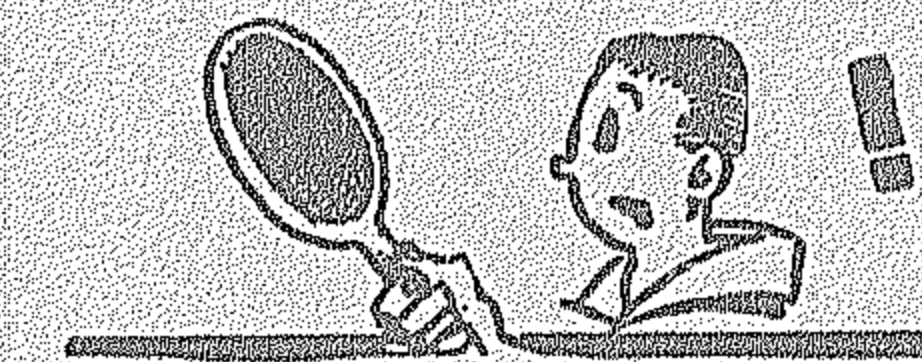

•We're all hard-pressed for cash at the present time, but we still—and all you do—realize the need for an IIT field house. As I have said before in this column, the typical Armour and Lewis man [and I

Tennis team whitewashes Concordia

•In the final tune-up before embarking for St. Louis, the net squad swept through seven matches in handing Concordia a whitewash on the windswept University of Chicago courts, last Thursday. In defeating Concordia the Techhawks won their second straight match; the Lake Forest contest being cancelled because of cold weather; while Loyola's annual spring withdrawal caused the other cancellation.

•Concordia's No. 1 man, Lyle Saeger, dropped his match to Dick Larson in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3. Mike Schultz, temporarily dropped to the second spot because of his failure to attain his '41 form as yet, indicated that he had found his eye when he came back to win five straight games in overcoming a 5-2 deficit in the second set to defeat Al Hennig, 6-1, 7-5.

•Jim Ferguson gave everyone a scare as he again took three sets to defeat his opponent, this time downing Don Rosenberg by a 6-2, 2-6, 6-3. Don Schiller disposed of Bud Bayer with the loss of only two games while playing in the fourth position, and Jim Schoke duplicated Don's performance in turning back Eichmann.

•Both doubles teams proved invincible as Schultz and Larson turned back Saeger and Bayer, 6-2, 6-2; and the Schiller-Schoke duo continued in their winning stride by winning over Henning and Rosenberg, 6-2 and 7-5.

•The netters left Chicago at 11:50, last Thursday, to encounter Washington University of St. Louis on their home courts, and travel to Beloit to take on another newcomer to the IIT schedule, today. Also Wheaton, the causes of one of the four Techhawk defeats last season, will send a team here Friday in an attempt to repeat the victory. To complete the busy week, Lake Forest will be encountered there on Saturday. Not including cancellations, eleven matches were scheduled over a twenty-two day period, with three more matches due after final week.

think I lead the list), is horribly out of condition. If we had that field house, even I could find some time to get out and stretch some muscles and get that tummy down to normal size.

•Therefore, fellows, in the interest of your own hides and that of your dear (?) sports editor, let's keep the ball that Spitz started rolling, going down the hill. You know the old saying, "A rolling stone gathers no moss." Our field house stone has gathered too much moss. Let's shake it loose and really give.

•"Sonny" Weissman, Warren Spitz, any member of the ITSA board, or yours truly, will be glad to take your contribs. And just think, fellows, besides this you'll get your name in the box to the left.

Senior Civils cop pin crown

•At long last, the bowling tourney has wended its weary way to the finish. Last week's shoulder-to-shoulder match between the three top teams of the tourney decided the final victory.

•The three teams left tied for first after the regular tourney was over, the Senior Civils, the Senior Mechs, and the Senior E.E.'s, rolled three shoulder-to-shoulder games to decide the champion. The Senior Civils came out on top by taking two of the three games. Their scores were 893 and 867 for these two games. This team, made up of Art Minwegen, Bob Sundstrom, George Leibrandt, Jack Newell, and Milt Pleva, finally proved their supremacy in the bowling field. Jack Newell bowled the high game of the finals when he knocked out a 241 game in the second round.

•Finishing second were the Senior Mechs, whose team was composed of Ettinger, Bredlau, Galandak, Neuhaus, and Jenicus. The third place team was the Senior E.E., consisting of Williams, Pendlebury, Landak, Bosnak, and Dean.

•Plans are going forward for a faculty game with the winning Senior Civils team. Such stars as Messrs. Kelly, Swineford, Yellott, and Weissman, are reported to be whipping into shape for the game.

SPORTS?

by Hank Pachowicz

•Intramural sports at Lewis, under the management of Jack Chakoian, have fizzled out with the close of the basketball season. What has happened to the bowling and table tennis tournaments—the supposed softball tourney? With the heaviest scholastic program ever carried by an IIT student (one course), Mr. Chakoian seems to find that running one tournament has become a terrific burden, so much in fact that it appears as if intramural sports at this campus are going to die out.

•The reason for the failure of the bowling and ping-pong tournaments lies with the management of athletics, and is not due to lack of student interest since the students are willing, but proper arrangements were not made for the bowlers nor was equipment available for the table tennis players. Softball equipment also has not been readily available to everyone, because many persons have come up to the TECHNOLOGY NEWS office for this equipment after being referred here by Chakoian—but we have no equipment in this office.

•Getting back to the subject of basketball—why did the intramural manager charge an entry fee of ten cents per player (and what was the money for) when the ITSA has an appropriation for awards and the school supplies all the equipment? But where is this equipment? We know it's here—and yet students are complaining for the lack of it; secondly, also about the management of athletics here.
