SLIP STICK

Cleave to the Slipstick—Let the Slapstick Fall Where It May

This weather really has changed this year. Last year at this time one used so many blankets that he had to put in a bookmark to show where he was.

—IIT—

Spike: Do you know how to make anti-freeze?
 Pickle: Sure, hide her pajamas.

—IIT—

It was so hot yesterday that the chickens used cracked ice to keep from laying hard boiled eggs.

—IIT—

Joe: Are you a Russian spy?
 Moe: No—I'm a mincepie.
 Joe: You've gotta lot of crust.

—IIT—

Bill: What is an emperor?
 Will: Its a ruler.

Bill: Oh, sure, I used to carry an emperor to school with me.

—IIT—

Sad: Hey, who discovered America?
 Sack: Ohio.

Sad: Ohio—you're crazy—it was Columbus.

Sack: Yes sir, I know. But I don't think it's necessary to mention the gentleman's first name, sir.

—IIT—

Do you know what happened to Pompeii?
 Sure—he died of an eruption.

—IIT—

He: There's soap in this food.
 Waiter: That's to wash the food down.

—IIT—

He: Waiter, this plate is wet.
 Waiter: That's your soup, sir.

—IIT—

He: During the dinner you spilled soup on the Admiral's head.

Waiter: But the Admiral didn't mind, it was Navy Bean soup.

—IIT—

1st Kangaroo: Anabelle, where's the baby?
 2nd Kangaroo: My goodness, we've been robbed.

—IIT—

Actor: Don't stand too near the footlights—they're hot and your corns might pop.

—IIT—

Sad: What's a myth?
 Sack: A myth is a female moth.

—IIT—

She: It fits you like a glove.
 Her: It fits me like a glove?
 She: Yeah, a boxing glove.

—IIT—

Joe: I'm going home.
 Moe: Why?
 Joe: I live there.

—IIT—

Spike: Are you serious?
 Pickle: No, Spanish.

—IIT—

Dim: Exercise will kill all germs.
 Wit: Yeah, but how am I to get the germs to exercise?

—IIT—

Dumb: Why did they hang that picture?
 Bell: Because they couldn't find the artist.

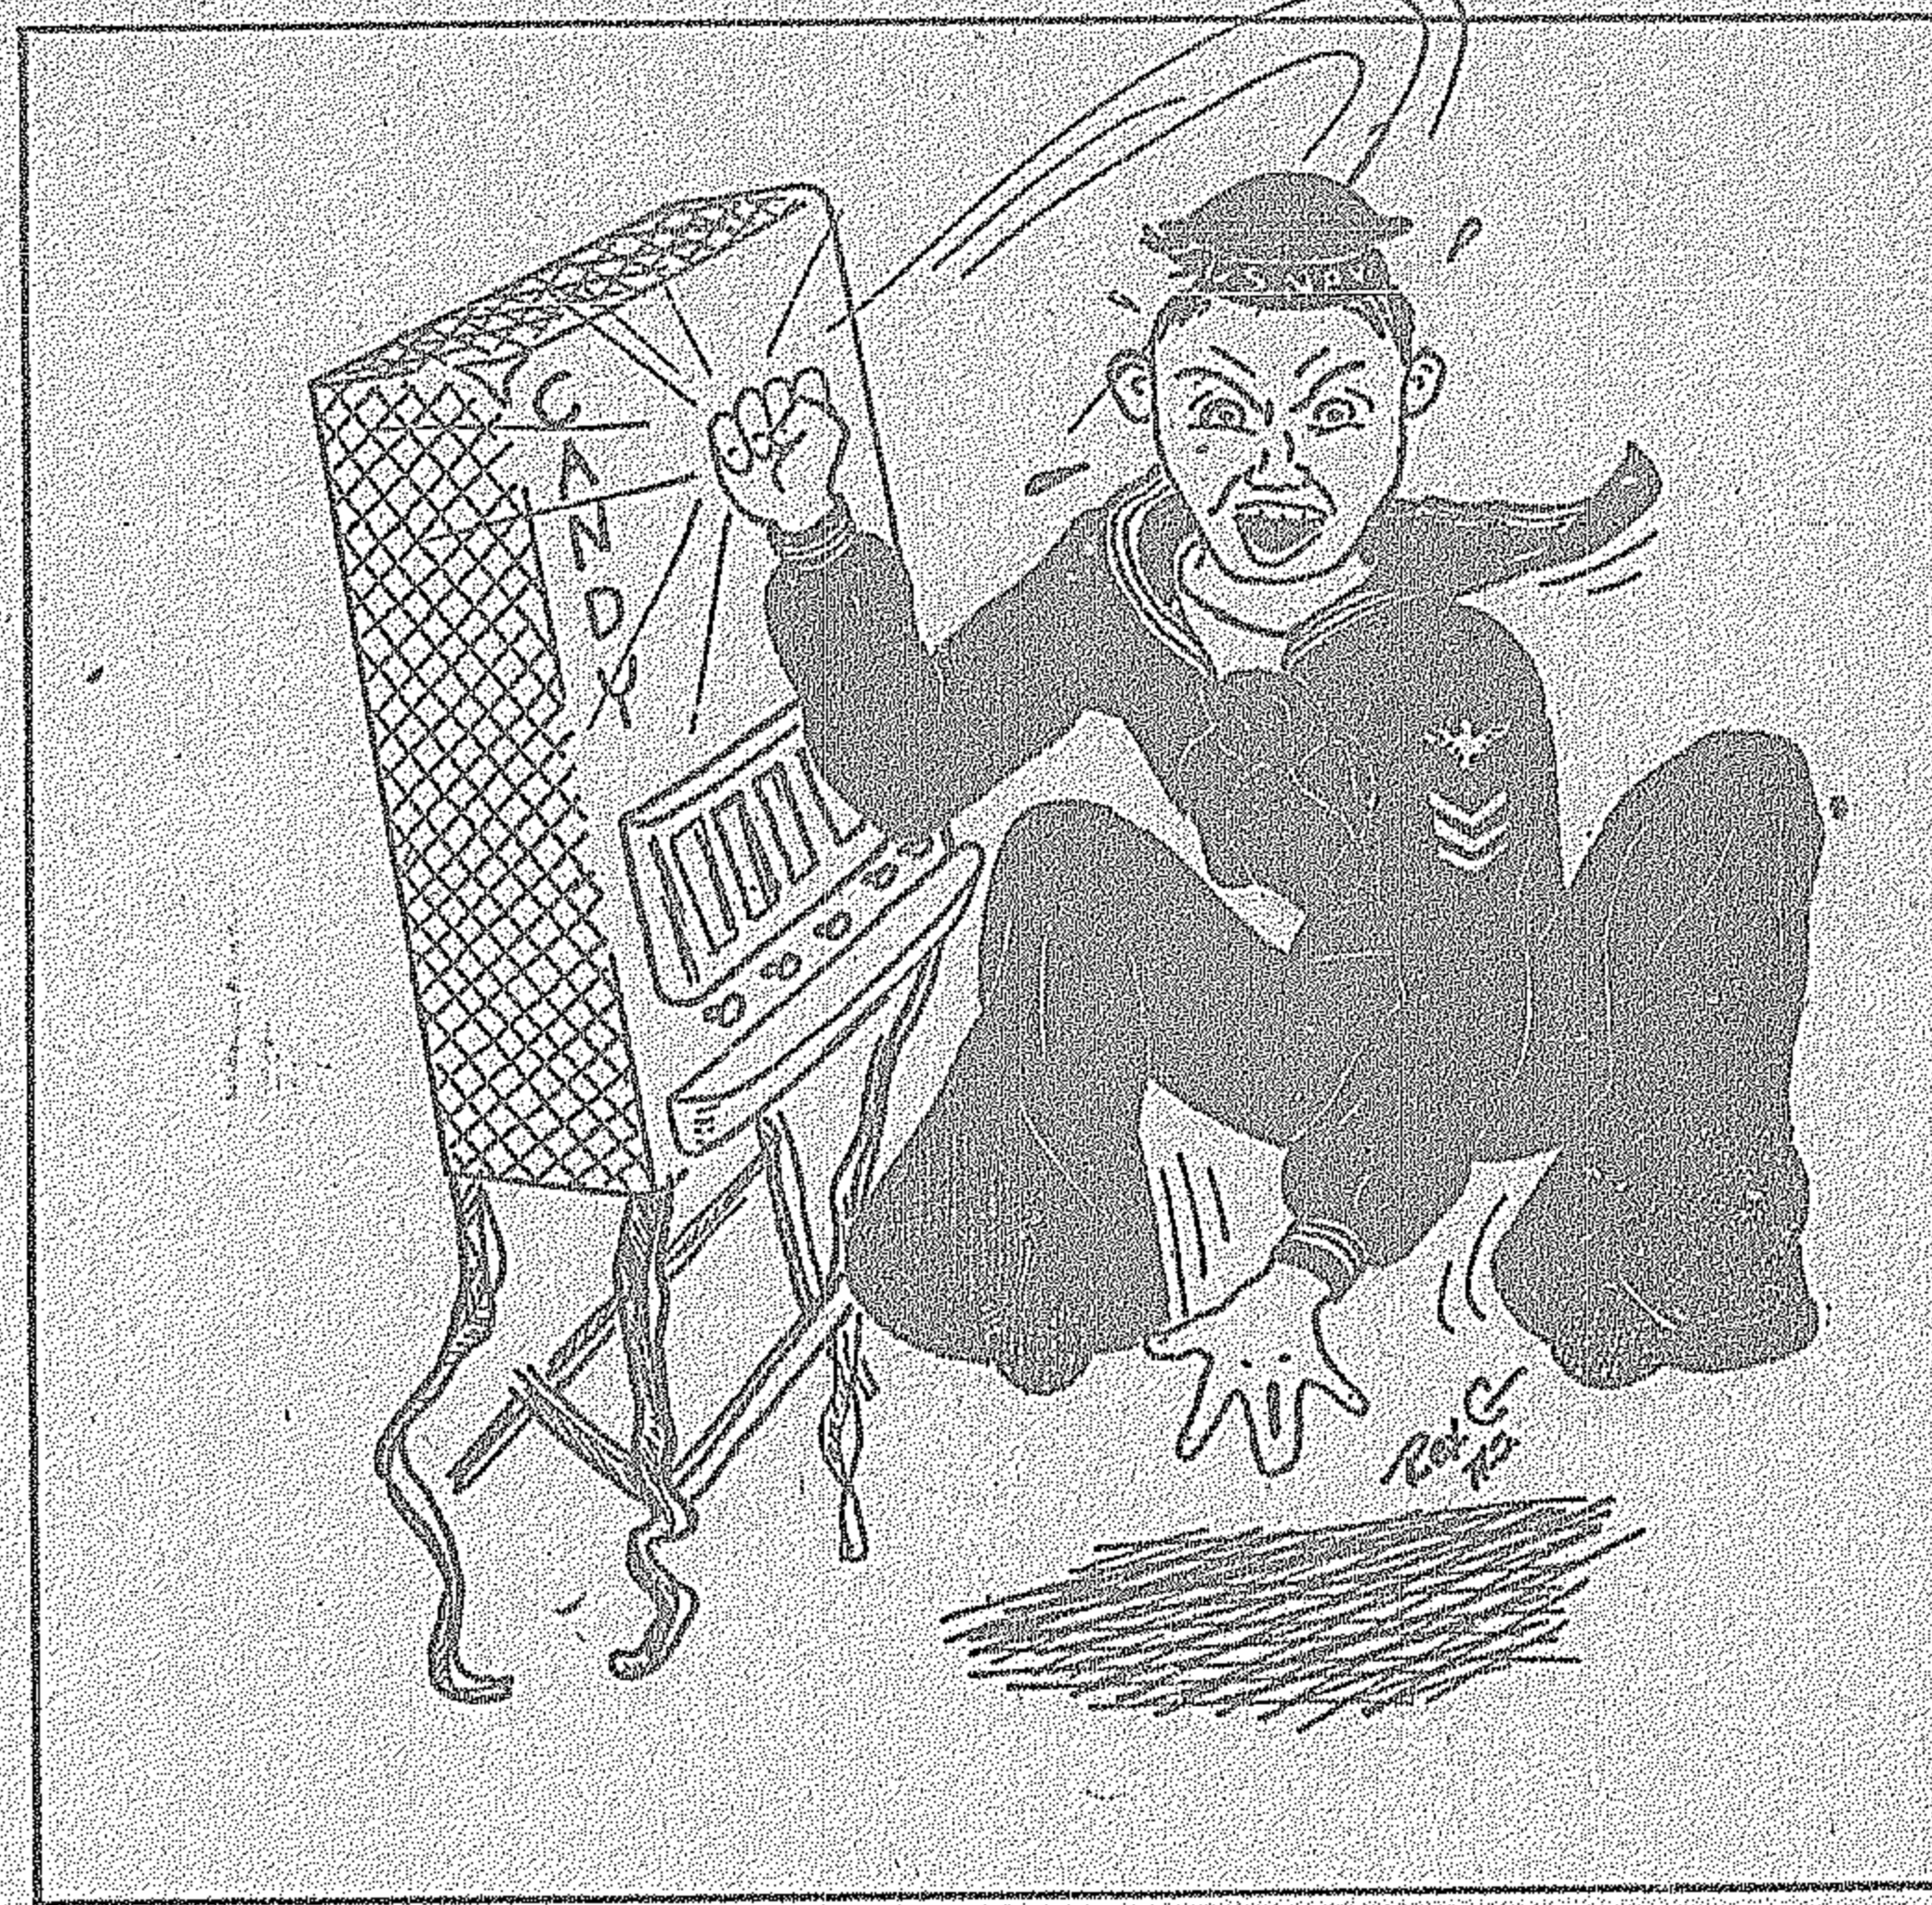

—IIT—

Man (to a newsboy): Give me a Sun.
 Newsboy: Whaddya think I am, a stork?

—IIT—

My girl is such a flirt that when she passes a field of corn, she waves back at it.

Guess Who?

"There must be candy in there, I can see it in the little windows".

Candy Vendor Will Succeed Jesse Hobson as Director

James Fanaras is to replace Jesse Hobson now director of the Armour Research Foundation. This was first announced at a director's meeting which took place in the lunchroom of Huber & Huber Company located on thirty-third street across from the well known Masser Hotel. It took several days for Mr. Hobson to recuperate from the shock and be able to realize that he will have a new successor. Everything was later forgiven when he met the new director and they spent an enjoyable afternoon at the Three Deuces drinking short beers.

He first appeared on the campus about ten years ago when he was seen pushing a luxurious jet propelled push cart. His first words spoken on the campus were "Candy Bars." Today, he still is saying "Candy Bars!"

He is also one of the greatest business men that exist on the campus. In fact, President Heald announced that he had contributed enough money to tear down the new campus that is to be built here and build another. Peebles commented that because of his financial stature he was chosen director of the Research Foundation. An example of his cash handling can be made by asking him to exchange two dimes for a nickel.

His first project while director of the Foundation is to assign a detail to do intensive work on exterminating termites from places where they dont exist.

Fanaras is also a great inventor, which can be varified in next Monday's Chicago Sun. At present he is trying to invent a push cart which will sprout wings and fly. But his greatest ambition is to invent a cart wich can be pushed with one hand.

In the meantime, he is going to open a night club on the campus for the benefit of the restricted sailors. The floorshows are to resemble the ones now showing at the "L and L" and the "Club Flamingo."

Washington, D.C., March 30. (Special to the editor of Steamshovel.) The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced late today that a special committee is on its way to Chicago to open an investigation into alleged subversive activities on the Armour Campus. Acting on information from undisclosed sources, J. Edgar Hoover ordered this picked committee to proceed to Chicago, with these words, "This sort of thing must be stopped! The fate of our youth is at stake!! This ring of saboteurs that is undermining the traditions and ideals of our undergraduates must be brought to justice. FLASH: A last minute bulletin from the Justice Department says that among those under suspicion are "Happy Henry" Heald, "Curly" Tibbals, "Pretty Boy" Peebles, and "Woody" Weissman. The committee will investigate the following:

1. The failing of students even though they have attended a majority (51 per cent) of the lectures.
2. Homework assignments before the fifth week of school.
3. Forcing students to read textbooks.
4. Banning of sexy literature.
5. Removal of Petty drawings from lockers.
6. Eight o'clock classes.
7. Afternoon labs.
8. Classes on Monday.
9. Distrubing the students' peace of mind and physical health by the insurance of flunk notices.
10. The nervous strain resulting from the shortage of beautiful secretaries.
11. The shock due to the sudden awakening caused by the disgusting clang of the class bells. Ed suggestion: the installation of chimes which at ten minutes after the hour will gently and melodiously lull the student to sleep with the strains of Brahm's Lullaby, and at the close of the hour to rouse him by the soft but urgent bars of Reveille.)

Cooperation of the student body in unearthing and bringing to light the existence of these and any other vile practices is earnestly solicited by the committee.

The editor of Steamshovel is happy to make an amazing offer to the student body.

How many of you have dreamed of owning a glow-in-the-dark slide rule? Well, now you can buy one of these mysterious "glow" slide rules. These slipsticks actually glow in the dark. They are just the thing for doing homework after lights out, and are guaranteed to save midnight oil. These "glow" slide rules have shiny silver plates attached to each end. All the numbers, lines, and even the hairline glow. You just can't afford to miss this amazing offer. "Glow-in-the-dark" slide rules cost only ten dollars. Due to priorities we can only offer 10,000 of these fine instruments, so place your order now. You may get your "glow" slide rules from any member of the Garbage Collector's Union, Local No. 23½ or any staff member of this paper.

At last the impossible has happened. Don "girls are useless" Haack has had his first date. This being such a dangerous adventure, I feel it is my duty to give you all the details, from the first hello to the last good-bye. Don was on his way home one afternoon when he spied a beautiful and lovely girl seated in the same elevated train and no one occupying the space next to her. Don said to himself that he just must summon all his courage and resourses and sit down in the seat next to her. He sat there a full twenty minutes before saying a word. After starting a conversation on the pretense of being lost Donnie was startled out of his seat by this lovely when sh easked him to come up to her apartment some night. Don said that his mother would not permit him to do this but he said that he would take her to a show. Next Saturday night Donnie (as she called him) and his lovely proceeded to a local theater and the balcony!!!! Donnie then did something drastic, he put his arm around this female and tried to do a little cooing but she was a trifle chilly. After the show they went to a drugstore to split a soda. Having borrowed a car for this momentous occasion Donnie parked at a well secluded spot along the lake front. By this time his date was quite willing to play along with anything that Donnie suggested. They stayed there till the wee hours of the morning when he said they had better go home as it was getting late. Don was so worn out by this experience that he swears he will never date a girl again, even his future wife. Oe yes, I imagine you would like to know the girl's name. She is none other than Gloria Farrel of the aeronautical and mechanics department. We are wondering where A/S Murray Percival, Gloria's "steady" was all this time, or have they broken up?

WILLIAM C. KRATHWOHL, after many years has finally made pi an even number. For the unmarried secretaries we have the following list of single men at IIT: EDWARD BICEK, MARVIN CAMRAS, BRUCE LONGTIN, and GEORGE MARTIN. YALE BROZEN is publishing a book on how to become rich in one easy lesson. His only lesson is—marry the boss's daughter. THOMAS HIGGINS will, from this time on, devote his time to reading comic books in place of EE books. There are to be beer parties for the faculty everyday in the lounge of the Student Union. Sonny Weissman is to be head bartender. ALFONSO GRECO, the elevator operator, has eloped with one of the secretaries. Her name will be printed as soon as he reports to work. CHARLIE NASH'S juice class reports that he said 110 "ahs" in five minutes. BENJIE FREUD flunked his mental examination for the Navy. DIESEL DAN ROESCH is to manufacture kiddie cars at the beginning of next month to offset the gasoline shortage.
