

Tech. Foot Ball

THE development of our football team this year over that of last clearly shows what we could do if we had the advantages of other colleges. That is more time, more room and a regular coach.

The team which played through the season of '02 without losing a game and being scored upon only once, and then by a drop kick, was, with a few changes, the same one that came out so badly in the season of '01.

The cause for the difference lay in the fact that this year we had a coach, Ryan, and that last year's team was the first one that Armour has had since 1899. The '01 team was captained by A. M. Jens and managed by Brimson, and under the circumstances the team which they developed was creditable.

A good advance was made by the football squad this year under L. J. Byrne as captain and A. M. Jens as manager. The schedule is not a large one but that very fact shows what the team was made of to be able to win games with practically no hard practice between. Much was due to coach Ryan, and in appreciation of his efforts a gold watch fob was presented to him by the Athletic Association.

With the same material for next season's team we may hope for the best.
