THE Young Men's Christian Association at Armour Institute of Technology was organized in 1899. Its membership has risen to over eighty. The prospects for increased usefulness were never so bright as at present. The necessity for the promotion of the religious life among our students is being realized more and more. The members of the Association are anxious to make its influence felt, and earnestly invite all who are interested in religion to co-operate with them.

The authorities of the Institute have generously placed at the disposal of the Association a flat on Armour Avenue, where the meetings and social gatherings of the Y. M. C. A. are held. Three Bible classes have been
