

THE · 1910 · INTEGRAL

Four years at college is a short span as we count time now, and you have your opportunity. Make friends, lend a helping hand and tear yourself away from the everlasting grind, and in the future you will look back and be thankful that t'was in this or that affair that you broadened your perceptions a little by enjoying the things that have given the finer polish to your character.

After all is it worth it? Days and nights of work and worry. To you, merely one of the events of the college year to us, the all important event of our Junior year. But we trust that our efforts have not been in vain, that you will be lenient, for we have served you in a spirit of love.

The result, we believe, will be in advance of previous Integrals, we have tried to make it so, and earnestly hope that the issues to come may profit by our errors, to grow and approach perfection. To you, a record, a pastime, a souvenir, we can only hope, perhaps more, to us a work, an achievement, an education in itself, The Integral.

NEUFELDT	CHENEY	AGEE	MERRIMAN
CANMAN	AMES	MACEWING	SMITH
MILLER	TODD	KILEY	PETTIBONE

"Do not fly until your wings are feathered."