The Atelier

The Atelier of the Architectural Department was founded in 1906, the purpose being to promote a closer relationship between the different classes of the Department, the instructors and the members of the architectural profession. Smokers held at intervals of three or four weeks, with leading architects and prominent speakers to give talks, was planned from the start as the principal function of the Atelier. Such men as Walter Burley Griffin, Louis H. Sullivan, Howard Shaw, Hornbostel, Pond, Hunt and numerous other men at the top of their profession have given talks at the smokers at different times.
