The editors of the Cycle take respectfully dedicate this volume to

Guy Maurice Wilcox

During all these golden, glowing years men in under-graduate life have toiled and fought: have won renown or have suffered disappointment. It is in those disappointing moments that we confide in one who will understand us and whose sympathetic disposition and loyal friendship will inspire us. And so in appreciation of this well lasting inspiration the class of 1916 dedicate this volume to Guy Maurice Wilcox.