"Bill" is known in Waukegan, as the only man in the town who knows anything about electricity. Besides being consulting engineer for an induction motor company, he is the last resort when the amateur radio enthusiasts of Waukegan find out that their wireless sets wont function. The only thing Bill does not care to do is Machine Drawing. He does everything else from washing windows in the Mess Hall to collecting dues for the A. I. E. E. We can see success written in big letters for Bill for his pleasing personality could not bring him less.

Rosie has that rare ability of combining athletic, social and scholastic activities and has made an enviable record at Armour. He could not easily have done otherwise with his ever ready smile and ability to make friends. His favorite occupation is playing a trombone while sitting on the business end of an induction coil. His favorite expression is, "Say, Guy, look out."
