

CLASSES

MORRIS CYRUS SUGARMAN

Chicago, March 17, 1899.

Mechanical Engineering.

John Marshall High School.

Rho Delta Rho.

A. S. M. E.

Morris has gained prominence as the junior partner of Eisenstein-Sugarman Co. His chief diversion has been to take a flock of library books out joy-riding on a hand-truck. Anyone desiring inside information on the why's and wherefores of an Oldsmobile will find Sugarman to be an inexhaustible fund of information.

Morris well deserves the name of being a "regular" fellow.

HENNING MELVILLE SWENSON

Joliet, Illinois, June 27, 1900.

Mechanical Engineering.

Joliet Township High School.

Sigma Kappa Delta

A. S. M. E.

Shifters' Society.

Y. M. C. A.

Class Basketball '22.

Class Indoor Baseball '21.

Heinie is a pretty decent sort of chap and we all like him, but he hails from Joliet. Now, how any man with that marvelous discretion and unquestionable ability that Swenson possesses could ever select a place like Joliet to be born in is a problem that takes its place alongside of the fourth dimension.

In spite of this terrific handicap Heinie has made a lasting place for himself in the hearts of his fellow-students.

