

THE ARMOUR ENGINEER

E. MERRILL SEABERG.....Editor-in-Chief
 RALPH S. KENRICK*Associate Editor*
 JEFF CORYDON, JR.....Business Manager
 GEO. H. KELLEY.....Associate Business Manager

The ARMOUR ENGINEER has now completed the thirteenth year of its existence. The year has been a critical period, marked by several changes in the magazine and in the outlook for the future.

A new cover design was made and used on three issues. Perhaps this change is symbolic of the coming change in the magazine, the "tree of life" motif representing the certain growth and expansion of its influence and circle of readers.

It has been the aim of the Staff to increase the volume of College News and Notes. If the student readers of the periodical are to be numerous, their interest must be catered to in this manner.

An endeavor has been made to increase the size and potential interest of the alumni section. The ENGINEER is essentially an alumni publication, although issued by the school through a selected group of students, and with the renewed growth of the Alumni Association certain to come, its responsibility and opportunity for service will increase.

The endeavor to keep up to standard the articles published has been met with success. The contributors have been principally graduates of this institution.

The Staff has felt keenly the absence of Dean Monin and his kindly advice, but for the capable and always available assistance of Acting President H. M. Raymond and Prof. Paul, with that of many others, their appreciation is extended.