

THE FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE A. S. M. E.

G. P. RUDDIMAN ..... President

H. H. EGGERS ..... Vice-President

C. G. JACKSON ..... Secretary

This society was organized for the purpose of enabling its members to gain practice in public speaking. Although the organization is small, it contains the best of the Freshman and Sophomore Mechanicals who are primarily interested in preparing themselves for later work in the senior branch of the society. The membership is open to all Freshman and Sophomore Mechanical Engineering students. It is certain that the senior branch will benefit when the present Sophomores become members, due to the spirited action within this society. The members of this society delivered short talks. MacFaul gave much information on locomotives and Flavin introduced astronomy. The other members took an active interest. A society of this type is an asset to any department because it stimulates interest in the department early in the college life of the student. After such a spirited year the society is looking forward to including all the Sophomore and Freshman Mechanicals in its membership next year.
