played, Armour was swamped 14 to 0. Geiger played a good game at short, and made almost impossible stops. Without these stops the score might have been worse.

Toledo was the next opponent at Armour, and the boys experienced little difficulty to defeating this team a second time. Cole replaced Geiger at short, and played a very good brand of ball.

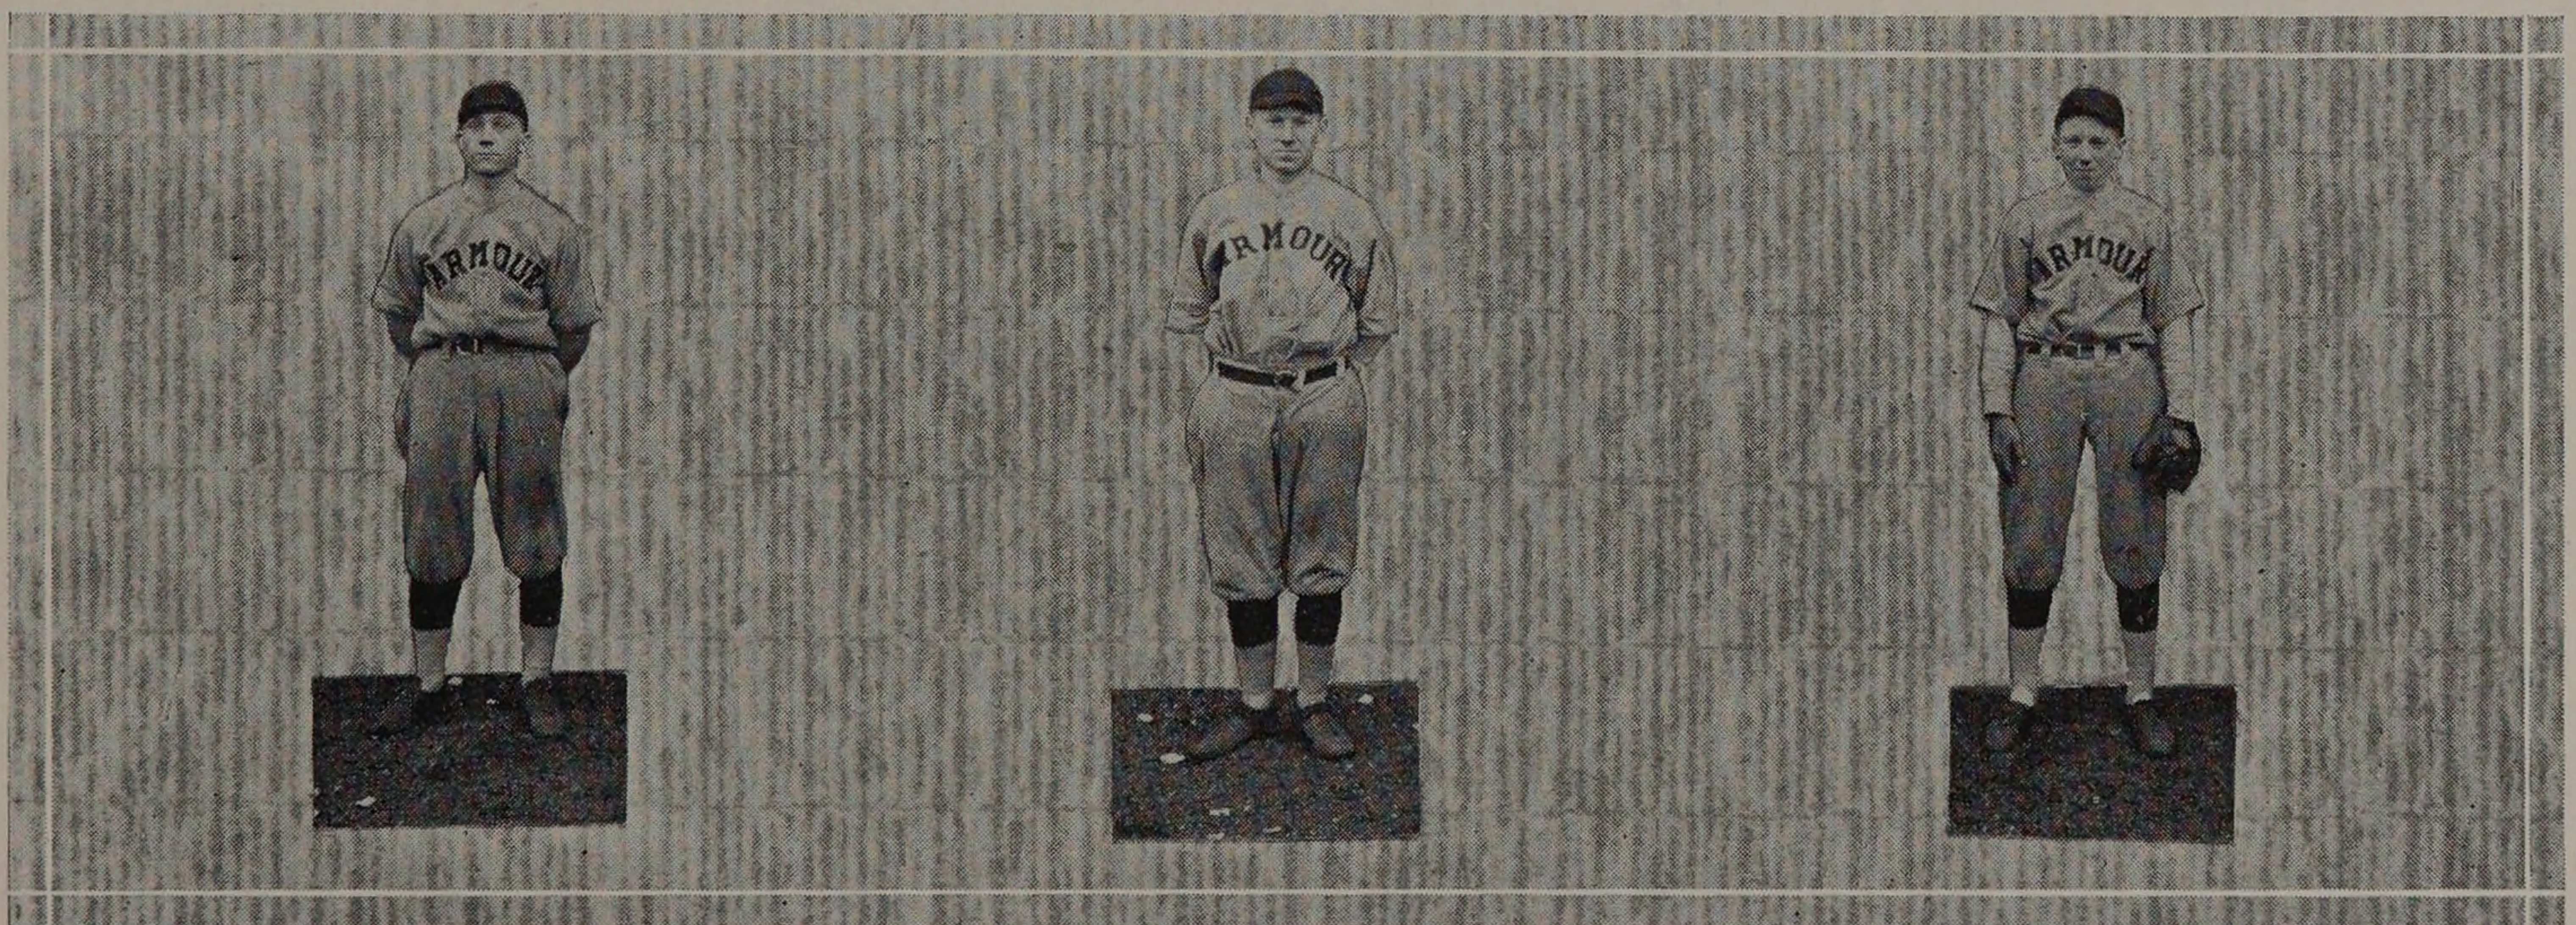

When the team traveled to Loyola, Walsh decided to try his hand at pitching. The outcome shows how Walsh and the boys played.

The last game of the season was the return game of Bradley Polytech. With the determination to win the last game of the season and to avenge the defeat sustained earlier in the season, the boys trimmed their opponents 10 to 5. Van Dyke pitched very effectively in the pinches and was aided by Walsh, Schumacher and Desmond at the batting end.
