"Well, well, and say do you remember several years ago when we went to the Junior Formal?" I asked of my friend when we met at the Palmer House one afternoon.

"I never forget anything except that stuff they call Calculus. But I sure do recall that Prom. That was at the Belden-Stratford Hotel and put on by the Class of '26, wasn't it? Yes, that was our class."

"Can you ever forget that music by Hank Harris? When I think of the music we used to get and how we paid so little attention to it, I feel guilty of some terrible crime."

"Do you remember," continued my friend, "how we kidded the Chemicals about trying to analyze the punch by drinking it?"

"One thing that makes me happy is to see that the following Junior Classes have had enough sense to keep the Junior Prom Formal. Say, I believe there is another one next week! Let's go and have one of our old good times like we had in 1925!"

"Say no more—I'll go up to the office and write for two bids this afternoon."
