

CLUBS

Armour Tech Musical Clubs

The present Musical Clubs, whose histories date back to the college year 1921-1922, are now well established organizations at the Armour Institute of Technology. Due credit is to be given the Armour Tech Athletic Association and Student Union for the financial aid. Without this aid success would have been practically impossible. The untiring efforts of Professor Phalen as Director of the Clubs coupled with the enthusiasm of the members, have served to create a new atmosphere at the Institute. The combined activity has seasoned the student body to a state where music is appreciated and its necessity realized.

Of the many Concerts given by the Clubs in and about Chicago, the two most important were the Inter-Collegiate Contest of Mid-Western College Glee Clubs and the Annual Home Concert. The other minor concerts have been an excellent preparation for those two major events. They have also served as a dignified and worthwhile advertising medium for the college. It requires constant care and tact to get the public to the stage where requests for concerts are received without being solicited, but the Armour Clubs have given several concerts within the last year upon requests. This fact bodes well for the future of music at Armour.
