

CLUBS

Press Club

Officers

DOUGLAS R. STIEHL.....	President
HAROLD C. MUELLER.....	Vice-President
WILLIAM SCHOLZ .....	Secretary
EDWARD H. MARHOEFER, JR.....	Treasurer

Charter Members

MR. WALTER HENDRICKS	EDWIN M. MEYER
GEORGE D. ARACHOVITIS	CHARLES NELSON
EARL R. HUBBELL	WILLIAM SOTHEN, JR.
HAROLD J. LUTH	DOUGLAS R. STIEHL
EDWARD H. MARHOEFER, JR.	HARRY P. WHITEHILL

In order to meet the demand for trained men for the principal staff positions of the "Armour Engineer" and the "Cycle" the Press Club was formed. It was found that nearly all the material of these staffs was composed of Juniors and Seniors who had no experience to speak of, upon either of the publications, and that when the ropes were put in their hands they were at sea for some time. This created an inefficient situation which was only to be remedied by the aid of some sort of a training school for those men who were desirous of affiliating themselves with publication work. To this end "Sphinx" the Honorary Literary Fraternity, under the guidance of Mr. E. Orson Pierce, formed what was to be known as the "Press Club."

The Press Club is open to any student of the Armour Institute of Technology, who has finished one semester's work at the same. Such a student must make known his intention and desire to the club by written application. Upon this application, he is either accepted or rejected by the club voting as a body. The duties of the members consist largely in serving as assistants to the different staff members and upon the performance of these duties they may or may not be recommended for further work.

This organization has been functioning since the first of last December and seems to have gained a firm footing in the life of the Institute. Its perpetuation will mean better publications for the student body and they should give it their utmost support.