Any man winning his letter in any of the three major sports, Basketball, Baseball or Track is eligible to membership in the Honor "A" Society. Each man wears a small gold "A" upon which is kept a record of his athletic achievements at the college. Each time a member is awarded a letter in one of these major sports, a small star is engraved upon a certain portion of the "A". Each part of the "A" is for a certain sport and so at a glance one can tell the athletic record of the member. The organization serves to bind closer together those men who have ably represented the Armour Institute of Technology in athletics.
