

HUMOR

CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCE

"Chickens, sah," said the negro sage, "is de usefulest animal der is. You c'n eat 'em fo' dey is bo'n, an after dey is dead."

OBJECTIONABLE MAN

Father: "Look here my dear, I don't mind your sitting up late with that young man of yours, but I do object to him taking my morning papers when he goes."

They put us to Grammar School and that is the start
Of the great education in which we take part.
Then it is High School—Oh! aren't we old,
These memories we promise to cherish as gold.
But they are forgotten and new hopes call
When we enter college—the best time of all.

Then out into the world to be a man,
To fight our battles and win if we can.
And when at the end, the victory is won,
Do you think the world knows where we're from?
Of course they do. There's no dispute
We're engineers from Armour Institute.

—A. McG.

WORK THIS BY YOUR MATH.

Exultant gloat of the boosters of Louisville:

"If eight men started from their respective homes in New Orleans, Dallas, Omaha, Minneapolis, Toronto, New York, Charleston, and Jacksonville and traveled by the shortest and quickest routes until they met, they would shake hands sixteen and one-half yards north of the Customs House on Fourth Street, Louisville, on a sewer cap midway between a trolley pole and fire plug."

PUNCTUATE THIS AND YOU WIN

If Moses was the son of Pharo's daughter then he was the daughter of Pharo's son.

Chairman at K. K. K. meeting:

". . . and now gentlemen, please be sheeted."

I'M SORRY

Car: "Can you sing a Solo?"

Uso: "No, I can't Duet."

Abie: "I smell the stock yards."

Ikie: "I always said your nose was long. Why we're two blocks from there."

THE WAY AN ARCHITECT THINKS WHILE IN GRAPHICS
CLIPPINGS FROM A PLATE