(With apologies to Sir Thomas Malory)

Then Schmitt, chairman of the social committee, brought before them the plans wherewith they were to enjoy unto themselves a most wondrous evening. Yea, and the plans called for a dance to be given at Ye House of Palmer, on the nite of the twenty-sixth day of February, A. D., 1926. And when they espied the floor and heard the music, and a little before even, they were merrie.

Anon the nite approached and therewith they saw the crowds come in at the hall door, and did doff their hats and their coats and said unto Schmitt: Sir, we have hied right much for to be with you to nite at this hall where the snappie music shall be departed. Then did Schmitt lift up his head, and say: Ye be welcome, for much have I desired your coming that my worrie shall be allayed, that ye dance is a success so as it was promised me long ago.
