

SOCIAL FRATERNITIES

Gamma of Phi Pi Phi

The history of Gamma of Phi Pi Phi is a record of local chapters of two fraternities, namely, Beta Phi and Phi Pi Phi, and of the assimilation of the former by the latter.

In March, 1913, Gamma of Beta Phi was installed on the Armour campus and as a unit of a national organization, flourished for some eight years. However, at this period of its existence, the national organization crumbled and Gamma Chapter became a local star in the fraternity firmament.

Plans for the nationalization of the local chapter were at once under way, but as such affiliations cannot be consummated in a short space of time, an interval of two years elapsed before the plans assumed any definite form. The whole scheme came to a climax on November 24, 1923 when Beta Phi was installed as Gamma of Phi Pi Phi.

Since this date the fraternity has not stood still. As Beta Phi, we had interest in athletics and all school activities. In Gamma of Phi Pi Phi this interest has been maintained with usury by inculcating in each new man the spirit of unity so that in every project the fraternity acts as one man.
