

BOULEVARDIERS. The evening dinner hour is attended with all the pomp and custom of German student dinners, but who is there that does not regret the passing of "A toast" and the click of the steins? Far from the maddening crowd with a pipe, a book, and youth's dreams. Freshmen! what a nuisance and yet what an unfailing source of amusement and unexpected pleasure.