

Consider the advertiser. He soweth his seed upon the new earth, not knowing whether it shall bear fruit. Yet through the medium of his advertisement, he contributes no small part to the financial success of this book. Your reply to but one of these advertisers will give him faith in the fertility of the soil and the desire to employ us as his husbandmen.