

COACH KRAFFT

BASKETBALL, 1929-1930

WILLIAM C. KRAFFT.....	Coach
W. KING SIMPSON.....	Captain
HENRY FAULSTICH	Manager
EDWARD ERLAND.....	Assistant Manager

The basketball squad enjoyed their usual mediocre season. The team, after repeated setbacks, checked up a final score of five games won, and ten games lost. The team seemed to lack the last minute drive so necessary for victory in a close game. To use Coach Krafft's words, "The Armory is a 'Morgue' unless filled with cheering students.

A large number of candidates turned out for the team at the beginning of the year but these thinned down to about 15 men who finished the season.

The first game of the season with the Alumni ended in victory for the varsity. The slightly rotund, slightly bald, somewhat short-winded alumni took the short end of a 37-17 score. Otto Kuhn of Automotive Lab. fame garnered most of the alumni points. After running up and down the floor once or twice Otto was so exhausted he stood under the basket and made several sleeper shots. Billy Downes showed the boys a bit of speed, and Vic Hofer gave a demonstration on how not to foul a man. Simpson profited by Vic's antics to the extent of nine charity tosses. Most of the squad saw action in this game. One of the alumni wanted to know if they were playing Notre Dame.
