

TENNIS 1930

The tennis team under the direction of Professor W. W. Colvert closed the 1930 season with three victories against eight defeats. This apparent let-down from their championship stride of previous years was partly due to the loss of Stellar and Jennings, the latter, Illinois State Champion and National Public Parks Champion for three consecutive years.

Captain A. Winkler, W. Scott, R. Eddy, W. Schirmer, R. Johnston, and R. Spencer, made up the regular squad. Winkler and Johnston composed one doubles team, while Eddy and Schirmer played in the other.

Captain A. Winkler

Coach W. W. Colvert

Valparaiso, the score being four matches to three each time.

Armour defeated Lake Forest, five to two, for its first victory of the season. In his match, Captain Winkler upset Roberts of Lake Forest, 6-4, 6-2. Roberts had not been defeated in six years of competition.

Tech ended the season with two decisive victories over North Park College. The first of these was five matches to two, and the last, four to one. The team exhibited class, speed and form in both matches, and completed their sets in short time. In these two meets they won six singles and three doubles matches out of a possible twelve.

Eddy and Schirmer was the best doubles combination of the season, winning seven matches and losing three. Eddy finished his 1930 singles competition with six victories and with only four defeats chalked against him.

Manager W. R. Manske

The Tech team was unable to start its winning stride, and lost its first six matches in succession. The first meet with Lake Forest was fairly close with several matches going to extra sets. Loyola gave Armour its only shut-out of the season. Tech lost both of its matches to