

*when or wherever was civilization without gaiety.
dancing and laughter are companions to a young heart.*