

After plowing through a blizzard, a boiler test is a comfortable job.

Between classes, with "Ras" taking the center.

If the picture were a talkie, we'd probably hear the post-grads speak German.

Having switched the power once, how many can now do it again?

Jim and Joe oblige.

A good shot in the Junior - Soph game.

Warren Brown tells the journalists of peaceful, easy life of a newspaper man.

Don't be misled, Harold's only a stage-sweeper.

