

■
in this age, more than ever before, transportation must be speedy, entertainment must be lively, and sport must have greater concentrated activity. for strenuous compact competition there is no more typical game than basketball.