

■
in youth there is more gaiety and less deep thought, but with the adding of years the scale gradually balances and then slowly tips to the other side. in so doing, the companionships and pleasantries of the past are the thoughts which often occupy that serious mind.