HISTORY

Salamander, honorary fire protection engineering fraternity, was founded in 1923 with the help of Professor J. B. Finnegan by seven outstanding senior students in the department. Its purpose is to foster high scholarship and to incite investigation in all phases of fire protection engineering. The roster of this organization now numbers ninety-four.

The primary requisite for membership in this fraternity is high scholarship, but this is not the only requirement. The candidate must show evidence of a strong character and must be a participant in school activities.

Two initiations are held, one in the spring and the other in the fall. A news letter, the "Deflector," published annually by the organization, contains news of alumni and the active chapter.

Each year an award, the "Handbook of Fire Protection," is presented by Salamander to the student of the freshman class in fire protection engineering who has the highest scholastic standing.
