THE JUNIOR INFORMAL

Oreste A. Tomei

Chairman of The Junior
Social Committee

Christmas . . . New Year's Eve . . . vacation . . . music . . . dancing . . . and . . . a beautiful girl. What is it? Cause for a big celebration of course.

Hence, to start the gay and festive holiday season off right and to initiate a period of enjoyment and good cheer, the Junior Class presented their brilliant Junior Christmas Informal on December 20, 1935, at the Boulevard Room of the Stevens Hotel.

Classes and professors were easily forgotten for the rest of the year 1935 once a "Techawk" and his beautiful lady stepped upon the dance floor. One could forget most anything in the midst of such gay revelry.

Obtaining a spacious ballroom, designing and disposing of stylish bids, and procuring an orchestra worthy of such an elaborate affair provided an arduous task for the social committee, but their efforts were amply rewarded by the number of pleasure-seeking couples present.

The Boulevard Room provided a perfect setting for the event; Roy Lind and his orchestra were an inspiration for dancing; and the Christmas season pervaded all with its holiday spirit. What more could anyone wish for, unless it were that the night could go on forever. As all good things must come to an end, however, "Home, Sweet Home" gently played by the orchestra terminated the last social function of 1935.
