On May 16, Armour met the University of Chicago for the second practice match. In this meet, Armour secured satisfaction for its former defeat with a 5-2 win.

George Williams College yielded in its second meet with Armour on May 20, to the drive of the Engineers, which resulted in a 5-2 win for Armour.

Against Wheaton College in a meet on May 23, Armour's netmen again came through with a 5-1 win, taking both doubles and all except one of the singles events.

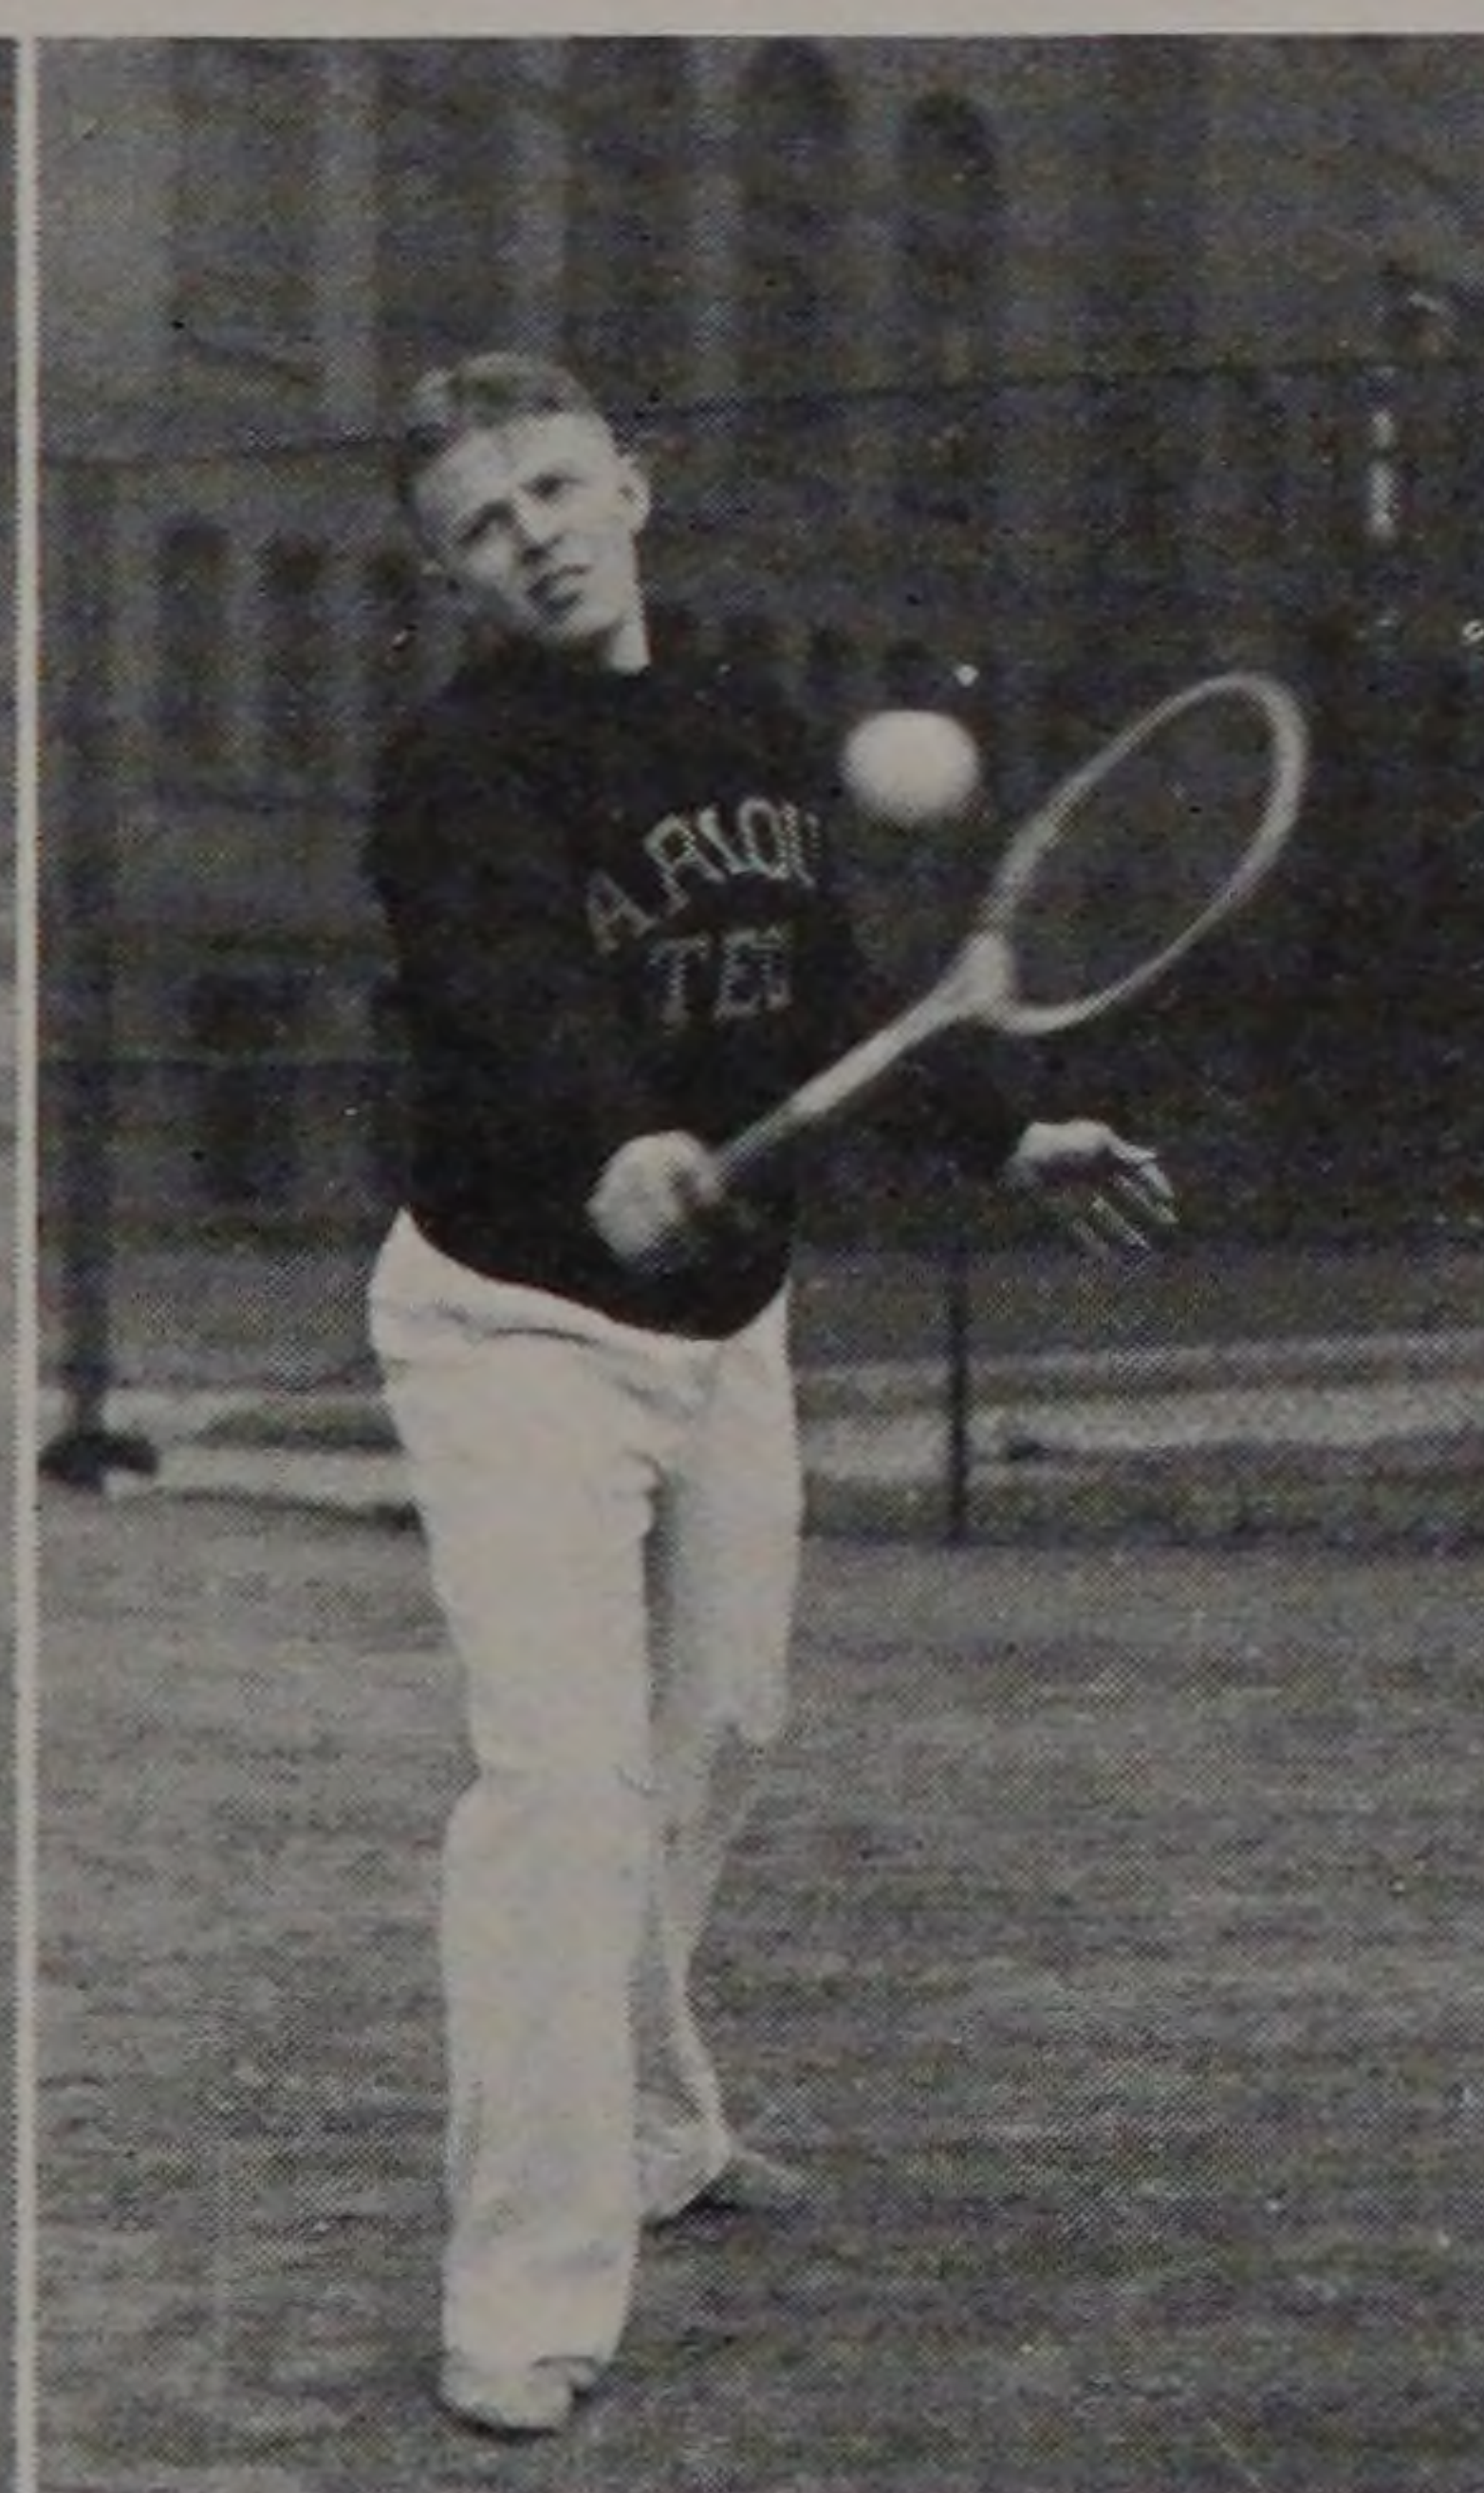

May 24 saw Armour matched against the De Kalb University team, which had twice defeated North Central College, who possessed one of the two defeats the Tech team had in its previous scheduled games. However, Armour showed its spirit and skill by trouncing the De Kalb team, 6-1.

On May 31, Armour's team met De Pauw for the second time and suffered the third and last loss of the season by a 4-3 score.

Loyola and Armour met in their second meet on June 1. The Engineers administered a 7-0 whitewash to close a highly successful season.
