

Led by Captain Dunne and inspired by Coach Sonny Weisman, the Tech wrestlers grappled their way through a ten meet schedule, winning seven of their nine duel meets, and placing fourth in the Wheaton invitational. The two contests that were lost were both dropped to the northern Illinois nemesis, Wheaton. Armour piled up one hundred-fifty odd points against ninety for her opponents. Of these Wheaton scored almost half. Captain Dunne led his team with matches won for the season. The team loses through graduation its Captain, Dunne, as well as Maxant, Kubik, McDaniel, Adelson, and McIntyre, all of whom were heavy scorers this past season. Coach Weisman regrets their going, but smiles speculatively at his up and coming squad of underclassmen.

The wrestlers opened against Morton Junior College on November 17 and won seven of the eight matches for a 35-5 victory. All of Tech's wins were pins, no Armour man taking more than five and a half minutes to fell his opponent. Adelson and Dunne floored their men in 5:36 and 5:28 respectively. Hanna and Nigrelli duplicated in the middleweights in slightly less time. Maxant and Tullgren in a hurry to get home for dinner had the three count on the Morton men in just over three minutes each. McIntyre, in the heavyweight division, ended the meet by throwing his opponent in the very short time of forty eight seconds.

The competition that was lacking at Morton was very much in evidence when Wheaton's grappling ministers visited Tech on December 15. The Armour Christmas was in the air and Wheaton took home a present of a 24 to 6 win. Adelson and McDaniel lost their matches, the latter going seven minutes against Wheaton's lanky champion, Schoon. Dunne scored first for Armour by trimming Hess in the 135 pound class. He won on a four minute time advantage. The mat champions came back in the next two weights to whip Nigrelli and Hanna. The latter wrestling his second time for Armour gave Captain Pett of Wheaton a real battle that went nine minutes and which Pett won on a small time advantage. Tullgren made the other score for Armour by outlasting Taylor in the 175 pound class.

The Lawrence College wrestling team came to Armour with hopes of winning a meet on January 15. Coach Weissman's boys weren't aware of the fact and took six out of seven matches on five falls and a time advantage for a 28-5 victory. Till at 118 pounds pinned his man in as many seconds. McDaniel won on a time advantage while Hanna,
