OUTDOOR

The '38 outdoor track season was the most successful that had been enjoyed in several years. The Techmen closed the season with a victory over Loyola that brought the total of wins up to nine. On the other side of the record was a pair of losses to North Central, who have been the champions of the Illinois College Conference for the last four years, and a loss to Illinois Wesleyan. Outstanding among the wins was a 65-61 triumph over Bradley Tech, the first Armour win over this school in eight years. In a triangular meet with Wheaton and Elmhurst, the Techmen scored 119 points as compared to 55 for Wheaton and 45 for Elmhurst, or 19 more points than the other two schools' total.

The season also brought with it several new and tied records. In the first meet of the season Dixon cleared eleven feet six inches to hang up a new pole vault record. The following week at North Central, Elwood also cleared that height to gain a tie. This record was tied twice before Elwood pushed it up to twelve feet in the Armour Relays. Bingham, the first Armour man to win a major event in the Relays, tied the 60 yard dash record of :06.5 several times during the indoor season and in a meet against Elmhurst tied the 70 yard low hurdle record of :08.1. He broke the 70 yard dash at the Relays. The first meet of the outdoor season also brought a new record in the discus throw as Vandekieft tossed it 127 feet 3 inches. The Bradley meet gave Finnegan the chance he wanted and he stepped out to run way out in front and come in with a new record in the two mile run. In the final meet with Loyola, Clark tied the high
