trouble, to add another victory to their string of athletic laurels. The Delts nosed out the Pi Kapp's for place position, twenty points behind the leaders. In the evening the fraternities opened wide their doors and traded dances in accordance with the annual fraternity open house.

The Institute dressed up in its Sunday clothes on Wednesday and put on a real show for its thirty-fourth open house. Literally thousands of Armour's family from high schools and homes in Chicago and suburbs came to see the displays. The chem labs were especially popular, while the physics laboratories had many puzzled and guessing visitors. The juicers made a hit with their kiss-o-meter and vacuum tubes. The arch's
