Through the whole-hearted co-operation and enthusiasm of the various members, the Rifle Team had one of its most successful years in its history.

Much of the credit for the Rifle Team record goes to its secretary and manager, Gus Galandak, for his untiring efforts in securing matches.

Top team man in these matches continues to be William Mashinter, who proceeds to greater skill with unerring accuracy. A much improved R. Z. Miller did much to bring up the team's average. One of the greatest losses that the team must suffer will be the graduation of George Bjornstad, whose knowledge of guns, ammunition, and ballistics borders on the professional.

The Club as a whole has grown to enormous proportions and a great deal of responsibilities will be put into its hands in the next season.
