During the past three years, the Rifle Club has grown from a mere handful of enthusiastic marksmen to an organization boasting of some ninety members. There are two men whose spirit of leadership has been the motivating force in back of the rapid development.

First is William Mashinter, president of the club for three years and the high point man on the Rifle Team for four years. Second is August Galandak, the secretary-manager of the club for two years. Through his efforts, the team has always had suitable competition with other schools during the year.

Even as the club has progressed, so has the Rifle Team, which holds the distinction of being the most successful squad on the campus. In 1939 it won eight out of nine matches and has repeated its success in the year just completed.
