

Marketing

Competitions

- Society for Technical Communications
- Independent Games Festival

Packaging

User Testing

Mark Sheridan Math & Science Academy

The Story

Professor is working in his museum lab on the final exhibit; R.O.B.O.T., when he leaves for a moment. Someone enters from the rear door, dismantles the robot, and steals the parts. When Professor returns to find R.O.B.O.T.'s parts stolen he becomes frantic; he has spent years on the exhibit. Professor takes the head (the only piece left) outside but does not know what to do. Just then, a school bus arrives with children on a field trip and he asks the children to help him find the robot's stolen parts. The Professor gives the robot's head to the child to serve as a guide as the search through the museum for the missing parts.

The Games

Scholars of the Lost Exhibit is comprised of five smaller games. The Constellation Game, Planet Game, and Water Cycle Game all appear as exhibits in the museum. The Fishing Game takes place in the fountain in the courtyard. Each of these games focuses on a single math or science topic from the fourth grade curriculum. Once these four games have been successfully completed, a secret passage opens and the player gains access to the Dungeon Game. The Dungeon Game is a review of all of the topics from the four previous games. Once this game is finished, the student captures the thief and receives a certificate of completion for the entire game.

Fishing Game

Constellation Game

Dungeon Game

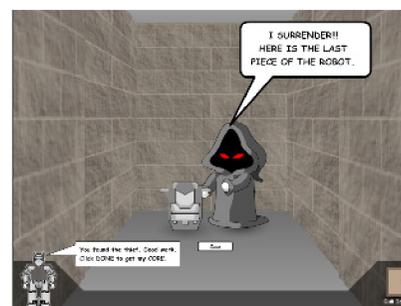

Planet Game

Water Cycle Game

The Final Capture!

The Characters

Professor

This intelligent but absentminded professor has been working on the final exhibit; R.O.B.O.T. at the museum for years. He finally completes it but it gets stolen while he is away. You are his only hope!

R.O.B.O.T. (Robotic Object Built for Oral Teaching)

This mechanical exhibit was just completed and his parts were stolen. His head guides the player through the museum.

Boy

This young and adventurous spirit is on a field trip at a local museum when he is asked by Professor to help find R.O.B.O.T.'s parts. Will he accept?

Girl

This young and adventurous spirit is on a field trip at a local museum when she is asked by Professor to help find R.O.B.O.T.'s parts. Will she accept?

Professor's Evil Twin

This hooded, nefarious villain has stolen R.O.B.O.T.'s parts just after Professor completed it. He has hidden the parts in the museum and it is up to you to find them!