

Fostering Synergy

Synergy noun
 Two or more things working together to produce a result not independently obtainable; the interaction of elements that when combined produce a total effect that is greater than the sum of the individual elements or contributions

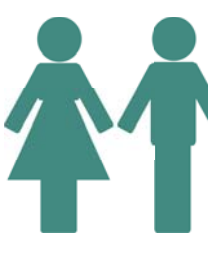

From the Greek word synergyia from synergos, meaning "working together"

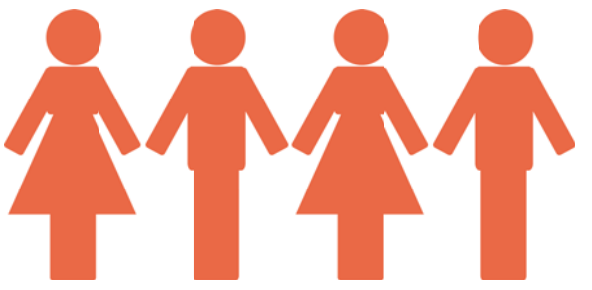

Fostering Synergy supports women in their most difficult stages of life. A young mother exiting the foster care system will be paired with a matriarch to form a living pod. The pair will help each other with daily activities and provide companionship and support. The senior woman will provide childcare services and parenting advice, while the young mother attends classes and/or works. In return the young mother will help with cleaning and grocery shopping. The development will be comprised of multiple living pods to create a support community. The community will provide a network of resources that go beyond the individual pair, branching out to other members of the community as needed.

The intention of the project is to create a community that fosters and supports social interaction and personal growth. The support of the community also helps by providing safe child care and help with daily activities such as cooking and cleaning. The intention of the development is to provide a safe living environment for all age groups that helps the inhabitants develop a sense of financial security and personal growth.

Matriarch  The Matriarch is an experienced, independent woman. Her role is to provide guidance and support to the young mothers. She acts as a role model for the young mothers' children, while strongly influencing the upbringing of the children both in the family unit and the community.

Young Mother  The Young Mother is a young woman, recently emancipated from the Foster Care system. She has one or more children. Her role is to provide companionship to the Matriarchs, provide a safe family atmosphere for her child(ren), and become a fully functioning member of society.

Children of Young Mothers  The Children of Young Mothers are being raised in a collaborative community in hopes of breaking the cycle of the children of foster care children. They are under the direct care of the Young Mothers and the Matriarchs.

Staff  The Staff are directly responsible for community center operations. They provide direct support and care for the occupants, while also offering services to the surrounding neighborhood.

Community  The Community includes those living in the development and those living in the surrounding neighborhoods. They stand to benefit from the success of the development. Their participation in events is encouraged and appreciated.

Project Site: Chicago Ave and Wolcott Ave in Chicago IL

Project Asset Map: Showing transportation, parks, retail, and community buildings within 1/2 mile

User Relationship Diagram

Collaborative Housing Unit: 3+ occupants, 19 units in development, 1,054 square feet

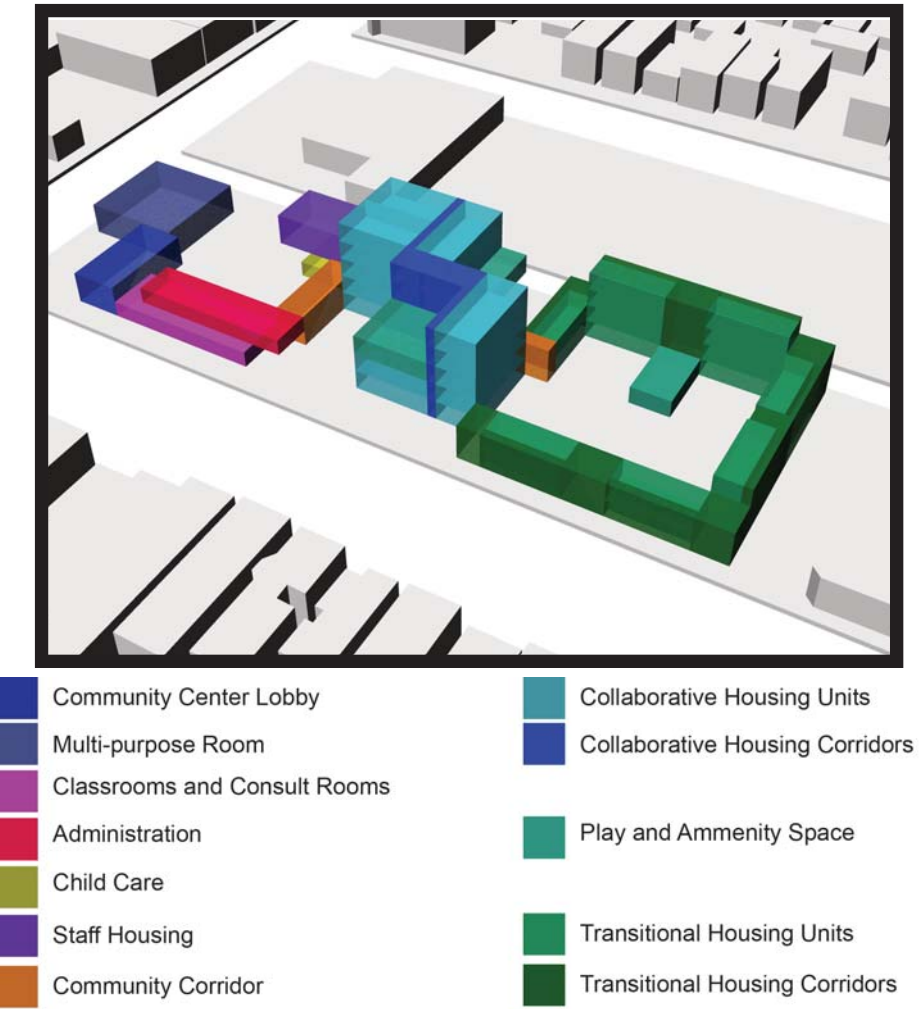

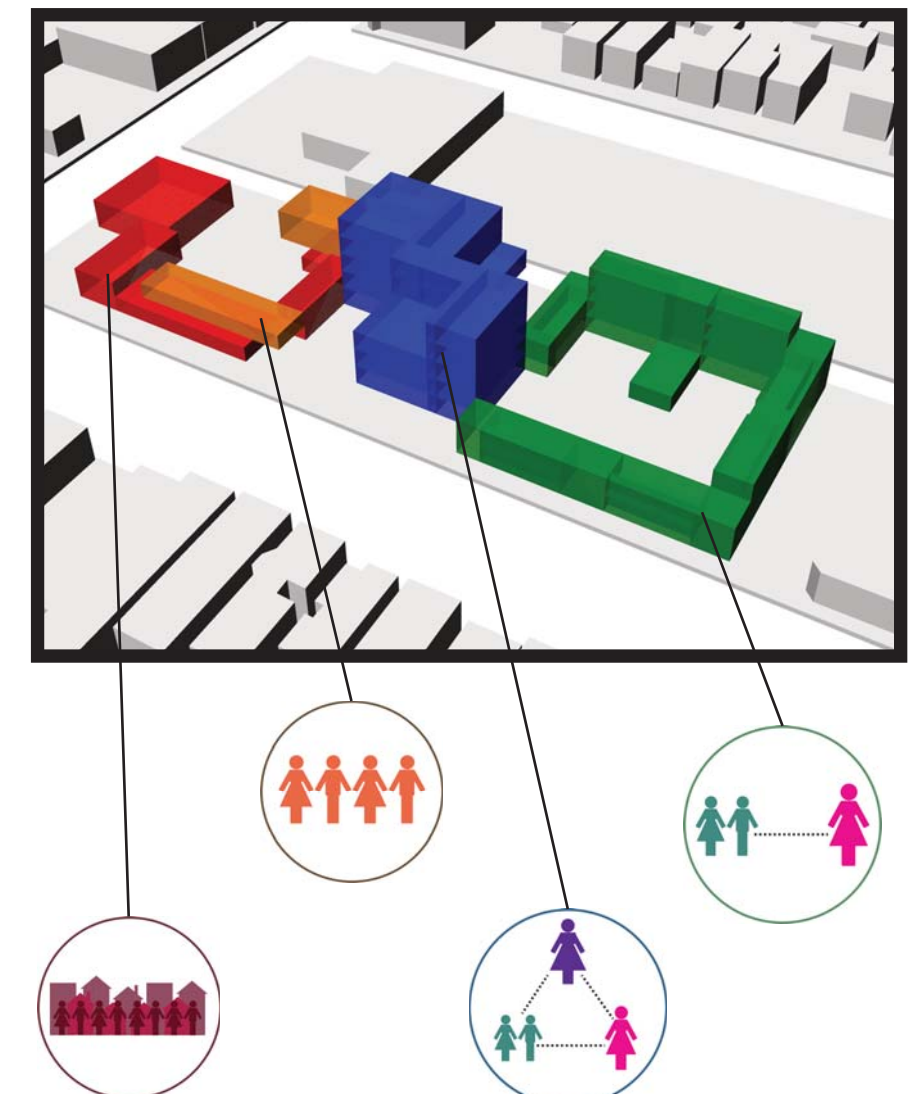

Transitional Housing Unit: 2+ occupants, 18 units in development, 790 square feet

South Elevation: showing brick facade with wood screens

Section: showing Community Center Courtyard, Collaborative Housing Building, Residential Play Courtyard

7% of Foster Kids are in foster care for 5 years or longer

20% of Foster Kids are 16 years old or older

In 2008, 10% of youths exiting foster care, or 29,000 teenagers were emancipated from the system with no permanent home or steady source of income.

Only 1% of Foster Kids are transitioned into supervised independent living.

As of 2008, 51% of young women in the foster care system had one or more children before age 19.

Over 25% of children whose parents were in the foster care system for 1 year or longer are placed in foster care for some length of time.

A household of two or more in the United States living below the federal poverty level makes less than $14,710 each year.

In the United States 26.6% of single parent households live below the poverty level.

Fostering Synergy

Birds Eye View with neighborhood context

Site Plan with First Floor Plan

View A: Residential Entry Courtyard, looking east

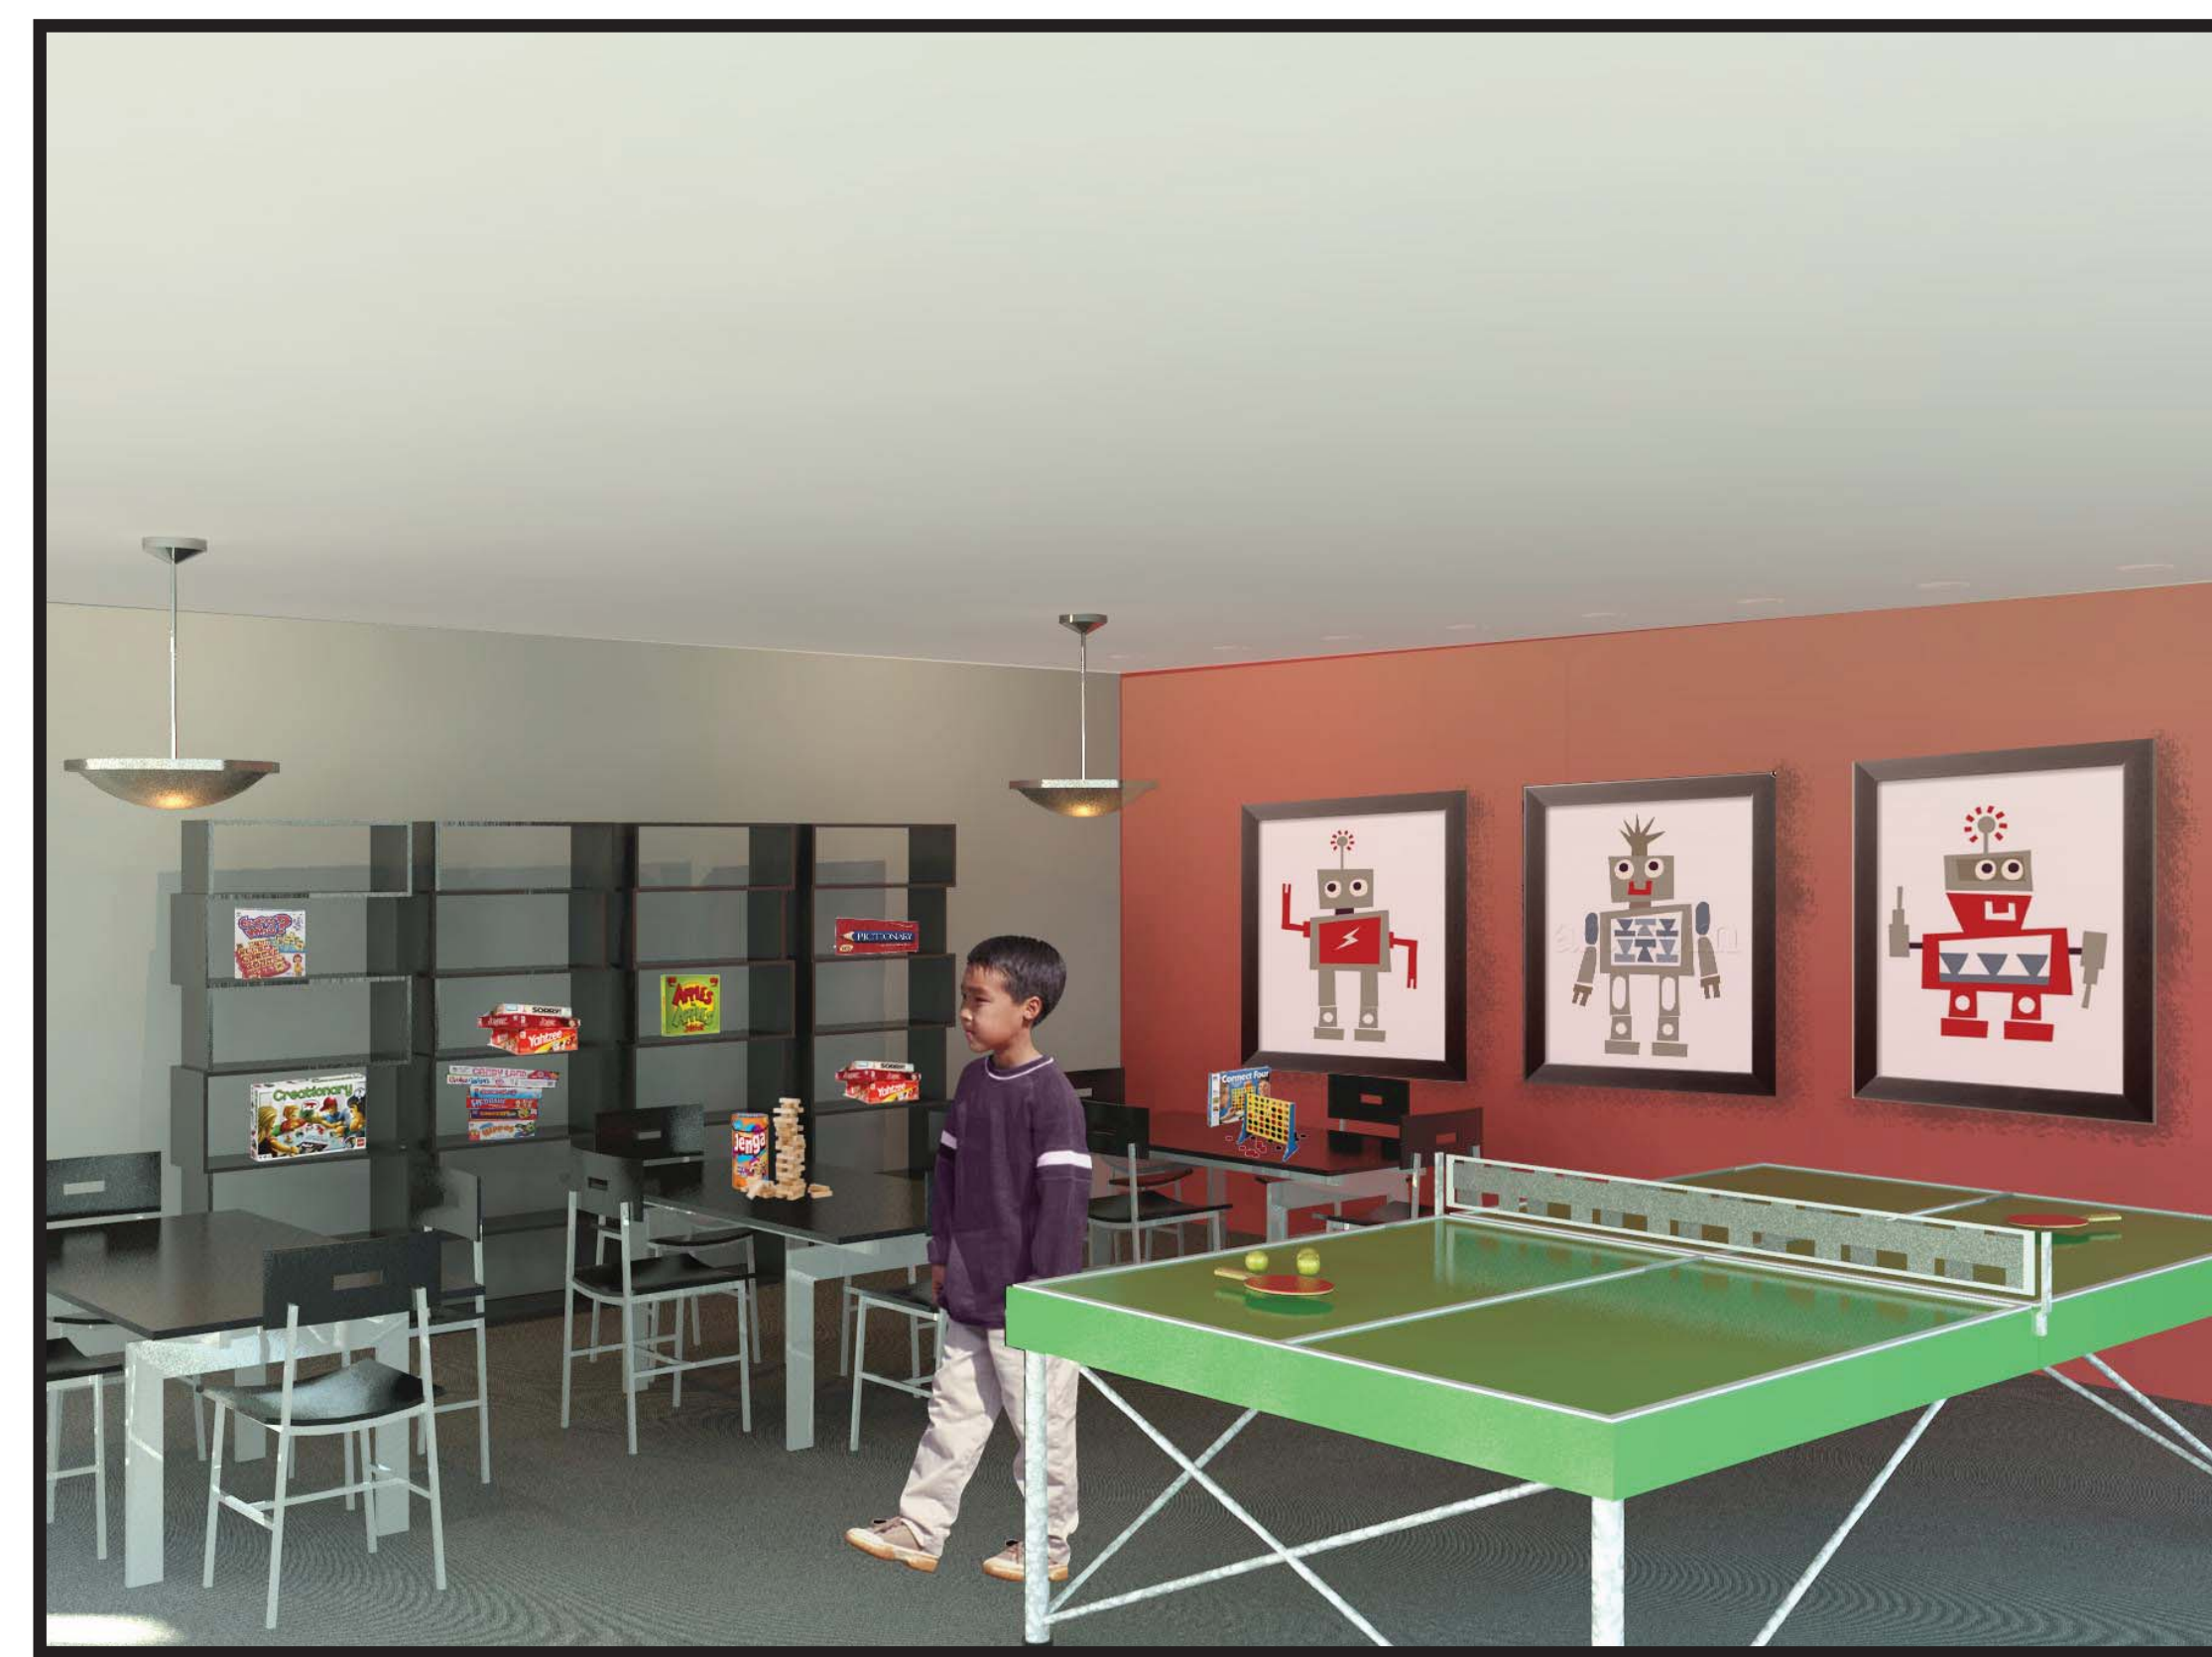

View B: Residential Entry Courtyard, looking west

View C: Community Center Courtyard, event space

View D: Residential Courtyard, view of play area from second floor balcony

View E: Game Room