

International Bridge Building Committee

What is the International Bridge Committee?

The International Bridge Building Committee is a Chicago, Illinois, USA based group of secondary school teachers, university faculty and engineers who, along with a group of Regional Hosts across the US provide oversight for the International Bridge Building Contest begun over 20 years ago by Roy Coleman of Morgan Park High School in Chicago, Illinois, USA. The Chicago-area Committee members also organize and host the Chicago Area Regional Contests each year and the International Contest in odd-numbered years. At this time the Committee is made up of the following individuals.
